GREY CUP

Cool And Dry

TORONTO (CP) — Dry weather is likely for the Grey Cup football game Saturday, the weather office said today.

"Prospects for the big game are promising," the forecaster reported. "It looks like partly cloudy skies, light winds and on the cool side with the game-time temperature hovering around 32 degrees."

Hundreds of Western Grey Cup fans streamed into Toronto by plane and train today to be greeted by the city's first wintry look of the season.

A two-inch snowfall overnight put a white blanket over the tarpaulin-covered football field at Canadian National Exhibition Stadium where Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats meet at 10 a.m. PST.

Odds favor the Bombers 6 to 5 with a four-point scoring spread.

CNE officials said today they hope to have the field in "fair" condition.

CRITICAL

Thursday officials of the Canadian Football League were highly critical of the field's condition and complained to Mayor Phillips and the CNE management.

The tarpaulin was lifted Thursday to speed the drying.

Complete coverage of the Grey Cup festivities and game in Toronto will be brought to Victoria Saturday by television and radio.

CHEK-TV, Channel 6, and CBU, Channel 2, will picture the Grey Cup parade starting at 7 a.m. A matinee program at 9 a.m. will feature films of last year's game and interviews with players. Pre-game telecast starts at 9:30 a.m., with the game itself starting at 10 a.m.

Radio stations CBU, 690 kc, and CKWX, 1130 kc, will broadcast preview of game at 9:15 a.m., with play at 10 a.m.

of the field and some of the rough spots were filled in. The field was bared until 10:30 p.m. when a weather office warning of snow brought out a special crew to cover it.

He said snow would be cleared from the tarp as soon as possible today.

The influx of fans, particularly the westerners, reached its peak this morning and downtown hotels were swarming with colorfully-garbed visitors. Even a train ride of two or three days hadn't dampened the spirited Bomber fans.

Paul Doherty of Regina will referee the game.

DINNER TONIGHT

At the 10th annual Grey Cup dinner tonight, five men whose contribution to football has been outstanding, will be honored.

In recognition of their work, five Canadian Rugby Union plaques will be awarded, one of them posthumously.

The five are the late John DeGruy of Toronto, Bobby Hewitson of Toronto, John Rowand of Regina, Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa, and Annis Stukus of Vancouver.

IF JAPAN GOES COMMUNIST

'World's Economic Balance in Peril'

"If Japan is added to the Communist empire... the economic balance of the entire world will tilt instantly against the free peoples, doubtless beyond recovery."

Times editor Bruce Hutchison reaches this conclusion in the first article of a series written after his return from a visit to the Orient as guest of the Japanese government.

The series starts in the Times Saturday and will continue daily. Subsequent articles will deal with the whole

WIRE BRIEFS

Rail Chiefs Meet PM

OTTAWA (CP) — The presidents of the CNR and CPR met today with Prime Minister Diefenbaker, but there was no specific information, later on what they talked about.

One-Vote Margin

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — Premier Wijayananda Dahanayake's government tonight survived by a single vote a motion in the house of representatives to censure the minister of justice.

Industrialist Killed

Algeria Debate Set

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The 29-nation Afro-Asian group today decided to submit a resolution on Algeria and request that the debate commence on Monday. France has made clear she will boycott the debate.

4th Holiday For Mr. K

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew into Moscow by helicopter today from the fourth vacation he has taken this year.

The Soviet leader made the trip from Gargy, in the Caucasus.

One of his other three vacations was taken just before he visited the United States.

Khrushchev went hunting with local Communist leaders in Romania. This junket was kept secret until his return to Moscow. In the spring he went to Albania, the Soviet satellite on the Adriatic, for a holiday that later turned into a virtual meeting of top-level Central European Communists.

Big Triumph for Nehru As China Policy Upheld

NEPAL DEFENCE PLEDGE CREATES A SENSATION

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Prime Minister Nehru created a sensation in Parliament today when he extended India's guarantee against Communist Chinese aggression to the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal.

In the past Nehru has given defence guarantees to the neighboring border states of Bhutan and Sikkim, with whom India has treaty relations.

The kingdom of Nepal, about 54,362 square miles, lies to the west of Bhutan and also is bordered by Tibet and India.

Marine Seized, Beaten by Reds

BOMBAY, India (UPI) — U.S. Marine Corps Sgt. Robert Armstrong of Martinez, Calif., was seized, held for five hours and beaten when he followed a turn-about Communist defector into the grounds of the Red Chinese Consulate-General today.

The state department in Washington called the affair a "high-handed, outrageous thing."

Indian police later rescued the American sergeant.

The Communist official first had asked for asylum in the United States consulate-general here, made a tape recording about his views, and then changed his mind and went back to the Reds.

Armstrong thought he had stolen the consulate-general's tape recorder and had stepped inside the Red Chinese grounds when he was seized and bound.

A consulate-general official said in a statement issued tonight that Armstrong was held for five hours in the Chinese Communist consulate garage and beaten with his hands tied behind his back.

Suffers Stroke

NOISE MAKES ELECTRICITY

Shout and Lights Go on

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The head of an electronics firm here said today his company has developed a "revolutionary" method of producing electrical energy from noise.

Eugene A. Russell, president and head of research of Electronics Development Inc., said the new method will be valuable in many fields from guided missiles to stereophonic sound phonographs.

Russell and one of his engineers, Andrew Duncan, demonstrated the "power amplifier" at a press conference. The unit weighs about five pounds and Russell said it produced 250 watts of current.

"You could put a noise-maker in a soundproof room and bank these elements around it, and

NEW DELHI (AP) — The lower House of Parliament today overwhelmingly endorsed Prime Minister Nehru's handling of the border crisis with Red China after the Indian leader told the legislators to either support him or get a new prime minister.

Only one or two "nos" were heard in the thunderous voice vote that approved Nehru's policy of negotiation with the Chinese to avoid fighting.

The actual motion was an approval of recent diplomatic correspondence between India and China.

Two motions critical of the correspondence earlier had been voted down, also by voice vote. Only a dozen odd members of the 500-member House raised their voices in support of the critical amendments.

MAJOR TRIUMPH

The overwhelming endorsement of Nehru's way of mediation and patience can be represented as one of the greatest personal triumphs in the prime minister's long career.

It had been preceded by weeks of the stiffest criticism he has ever had to face in the Indian press and from the political opposition.

In a stirring and often emotional speech winding up a three-day debate on the border dispute, Nehru warned that a broader conflict between the two nations could "shake the world."

He said if Parliament feels he could not face the situation adequately, it is free to choose another leader.

ONLY PATH

"There is no other policy open to us but non-alignment," Nehru said.

Bomb Threat

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Police said today that a huge dynamite bomb found between two gasoline reservoirs of the Shell Oil Company had been placed there by a man who demanded 100,000,000 lire ($160,000).

Explosives experts said the bomb could have touched off a blast that would have destroyed an entire Milan suburb.

371 Injured In Anti-U.S. Tokyo Rioting

Worst Since '52 Mob

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of chanting, shouting Japanese surged through Tokyo streets today and invaded the grounds of the parliament building, demanding an end to military ties with the United States.

Police reported 371 persons injured, 23 severely. Among the injured were 159 policemen. It was the most violent demonstration since the 1952 May Day riot in which one Japanese was killed and 500 injured.

Twice the leftist-led crowd—estimated at 20,000 to 50,000—stormed into the parliament grounds and exultantly paraded the red banners of the SOHYO labor federation while the lawmakers sat inside.

RED FLAGS

"This is unprecedented—red flags in the Diet (parliament)," said Sohyo Secretary-General Akira Iwai exultantly.

Communists, socialists, students and teachers participated.

The demonstration, at first peaceful and orderly, turned violent when police offered to let a limited number inside the parliament grounds to present a petition attacking the Japan-U.S. mutual defense pact.

The crowd surged forward, broke the police lines at the main gate, and poured into the grounds. Most of those hurt were injured in the ensuing melee. There was also a brief clash between the leftists and a rightist group.

The police cleared the grounds, but later more demonstrators poured over the low walls.

PM Sets Speedy Aid For Snowed-In Farms

OTTAWA (CP) — A four-point plan of federal aid to Prairie farmers with snowed-in grain crops, including acreage payments shared by the provinces and a speedup of Prairie farm assistance payments, was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

He said in an interview he could give no estimate of the total cost.

That would depend on provincial reaction to the main proposal: A $0.50 split with the provinces on payments of up to $3 an acre—with a maximum of $600 to each farmer—in cases where a farmer has been prevented by snow from harvesting 50 per cent or more of his grain.

However, another immediate step will mean earlier-than-normal payments under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act in areas where the crop appears to be a total loss. PFAA payments are up to $4 an acre and the announcement said PFAA officials have been inspecting hard-hit areas for some time for this purpose. Normally these inspections—and the payments—would not be made until next year.

Mr. Diefenbaker also announced plans for legislation early next session for government guarantees of bank loans on unthreshed grain, and said the government is considering extending the existing program of cash advances on farm-stored grain to cover unthreshed grain in the field.

PAYOLA PROTECTION ASKED BY DISC JOCKEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 31-year-old Bronx singer has asked for police protection, saying he fears attack because of his knowledge of disc jockey "payola" operations, the district-attorney's office said today.

Don Anthony has been given no such protection, a spokesman for District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said, but has been invited to come to the district-attorney's office and spell out his fears.

The spokesman said he knew nothing of a published report that Anthony possesses cancelled cheques to prove that he had been "bled of $5,000" by disc jockeys who played a record he made on his own label, Barbizon Records.

SUICIDE CHARGE

UN Scandal Hushed Up?

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — A Fort Lauderdale Daily News reporter said today former Danish United Nations diplomat, Provi Bang-Jensen, told him he was fired from his job because he knew of a "major scandal" in the UN.

Reporter Richard Milne said Bang-Jensen told him in a telephone interview last January that "there is a major scandal in the United Nations that is being covered up... that could rock the UN to its foundations." He said it concerned the handling of the investigation of the Hungarian revolution.

Bang-Jensen's body was found Thursday on a bridge path on the outskirts of Queensborough, N.Y. Police said the 50-year-old diplomat apparently took his own life in despair over his dismissal. Milne said Bang-Jensen refused to elaborate on the "scandal" charges.

Diplomat 'Railroaded' Out of Job

The reporter quoted Bang-Jensen as saying he had been "railroaded" out of the UN for keeping secret the names of Hungarian freedom fighters which the Soviet bloc nations were trying to secure. He said he was "sure" pressure for his dismissal was brought by Communist countries implicated in the alleged scandal.

Milne said Bang-Jensen refused to turn over the Hungarian lists to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld at the request of the Hungarians. He said the freedom fighters were afraid the names would fall into the hands of the Soviet bloc if put in the UN vault.

Milne quoted Bang-Jensen as saying he had been barred from access to records necessary to defence of insubordination charges by the UN. The UN later fired him on those grounds.

Milne said he talked with Bang-Jensen shortly after his dismissal with a view to collaborating with the Danish diplomat on a book about his experiences. At the time, Bang-Jensen was in New York.

Cuban Arrests

HAVANA (AP) — Military investigators today announced the arrest of more than 250 persons in a roundup of counter-revolutionary suspects in the Holguin area of eastern Oriente Province. The arrests were made in simultaneous raids on a number of towns.

DARING DASH THROUGH FIRE

This Texas and Pacific train appears engulfed by flames, but really is speeding past flames which whipped across the pasture land of Texas, lap-ping at the edge of the railroad tracks Thursday. Some 3,000 acres were scorched in eastern Texas, but flames were under control today.

(From Times News Services).
PARIS—Police are puzzling over a disappearing trick, despite knowing full well that in the words of the old saying, "it was all done by mirrors."

The story began at Orly airport. Four passengers boarded an Air France plane for Marseilles—an elderly French woman, two English tourists and a Paris glass manufacturer accompanying what he believed was a shipment of mirrors ordered by a Marseilles hairdresser.

At Marseilles, surprised officials counted five passengers disembarking. The extra passenger disappeared before he could be questioned.

And next day—nothing that his crate of mirrors seemed unusually light—the glass manufacturer opened it and found it empty.

Police assume the mystery passenger removed the mirrors from the crate and hid in it. But they can't find the mirrors. They also want to know how the man managed to nail himself in the box and then get out.

113 Join Scouts In Active Year

In spite of all her pomp and pageantry, England has a democracy "second to none in the world today," retired Saskatchewan judge G. W. McPhee told Victoria district of the Boy Scouts' Association at its annual dinner Thursday night.

"Citizens of the British Commonwealth are given greater individual rights than those of any other nation and we have inherited these rights from the mother country."

Judge McPhee said that in the present world conflict "the forces of good and peace must eventually prevail."

113 MORE
Reports presented at the meeting recorded an increase of 113 uniformed members during the past year, and a total of 2,794 cubs, scouts, rover scouts and leaders in the Greater Victoria area.

From November, 1958, to October, 1959, there were 10 adult leadership training courses conducted by the district council, with a total attendance of 364 adults.

Eight boy leader courses were given in the same period with some 135 boys participating.

Camping activities at the district camping grounds Camp Barnard, Sooke, showed an increase with facilities being used on all but eight days during July and August and on almost every weekend from April to October.

Exactly 975 boys spent 4,656 days camping during the scouting year.

In line with provincial reorganization, the Victoria district council turned over its responsibilities to a regional executive committee appointed by the council.

The new regional committee will be responsible for organization of scouting south of the Malahat and the organization of eight district councils to assist groups in boys' work.

H. D. C. Hunter was appointed president of the Victoria District Council.

Other officers appointed by the provincial council include C. W. Nash and D. G. Frizzell as vice-presidents, and C. F. Swannell, treasurer.

Executive committee members are J. Batey, E. C. Brown, S. T. FitzPatrick, R. O. Gunning, R. L. V. Jermain, J. R. Lemieux, W. Maddock, T. G. Megaw, C. A. Perry, V. A. Ridgway and W. E. Whitley.

Smith Afraid of 'Facts'
Or He'd Appear—Edgelow

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow Thursday told city council that mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith did not want the public to learn the truth about his allegations.

Otherwise, Mr. Edgelow said, he would have been allowed to speak at Mr. Smith's political meeting Wednesday and the mayoralty candidate would have accepted a council invitation to show it proof of alleged "suspicious" land deals.

Ald. Edgelow gave "the other and factual side" of some statements made by Mr. Smith regarding the View Street project and the relocation and renovation of seven houses taken off the new fire hall site.

Liar, Coward

Mr. Smith was called a liar and a coward by two other aldermen when he failed to show up before council.

Ald. Edgelow said Mr. Smith told him council was responsible to him as a taxpayer so the aldermen should turn up for his Wednesday meeting.

"Well, I went but they wouldn't hear me. I tried four times. The first time I started to speak they had the music played."

"I waited and then they took up a collection. After three more tries I was informed that I could not speak."

"Well I can understand that from the organization's standpoint."

"What I cannot understand is why Mr. Smith didn't jump to his feet then and say: 'Well, here we have the chairman of public works so let's ask him questions and really put him on the spot.'"

'Both Sides'

Ald. Edgelow said that Mr. Smith got a crowd to the meeting by making allegations and claiming he wanted them thoroughly aired.

"You need both sides to air something thoroughly and I was there and they could have done that if they wanted to know the truth. But evidently he didn't want that."

"And that's probably why he's not here today."

Ald. Edgelow said he could understand why people might start believing Mr. Smith's allegations if they heard no rebuttal from council.

Mr. Smith was invited to appear before council only because the aldermen wished to keep the record straight and correct any mis-statements.

Publicized

He said despite Mr. Smith's claims that the word mall did not appear in the $1,000,000 by-law passed last year, the mail aspect of the project was thoroughly publicized.

Also, contrary to Mr. Smith's insistence that it was a multi-million-dollar project, the actual estimate had been $605,000, although this would be higher as a result of the year's delay caused by Mr. Smith's lawsuit.

Ald. Edgelow said council sought power to borrow up to $1,000,000 in order to have a reserve for contingencies but there was no commitment to spend the full amount.

He also said the proposed 350-car parking garage would provide a net increase of 207 car spaces on View Street, not 97 as claimed by Mr. Smith.

Because the facility was designed for short-term parking by shoppers, the net increase would actually add "a substantial" 1,100 short-term daily parkings.

Coming Down

Ald. Edgelow also noted that Mr. Smith has claimed the city will lose $200,000 on its project of moving and renovating seven houses removed from the new firehall site.

"Last night he came down to $60,000 to $70,000, so he's dropped that claim by $130,000 now," said Ald. Edgelow.

He pointed out that the $301,518 cost of the firehall and its site "came from land sales and was approved by Mr. Smith's government before it was spent. Not a cent came from taxpayers."

At worst, the city may drop a maximum of $21,000 on the house-renovating project, although the final outcome is not settled yet.

On Tax Roll

But he pointed out that the houses were moved to undeveloped land which now has been put on the tax roll. The renovations have improved the whole area.

"So eventually, through the increase in tax revenues, the city will not lose a penny on this," he said.

He said he understood Mr. Smith, as Social Credit MLA for Victoria, blocked a move in the legislature for legislation which would have enabled the city to set aside some parking meter revenues in a reserve fund for development of off-street parking facilities.

"I don't think that's working in the interests of the city. He should be fighting for what council has requested . . ."

"And what the people voted for," interjected Mayor Percy Scurrell.

Ald. Edgelow said Victoria had a fine record for clean government "and I don't think anyone trying to get elected should smear that record."

Ald. Millard Mooney said Mr. Smith, at his political meeting, "claimed he came to council this year with a petition of 5,000 names (urging a second vote on the View Street parking bylaw) and it was rejected."

"That was nothing but a lie—just a big lie."

"These things bother me because the people are not getting facts. Mr. Smith said in the paper that the public was being hoodwinked."

"Well I wonder who is hoodwinking the public."

"I'm sure that it isn't this council. I will go on oath for that."

'Lacking Guts'

Ald. Arthur Dowell, who made the challenge to Mr. Smith as chairman of lands committee, said the mayoralty candidate was "conspicuous by his absence."

Ald. Dowell said he was not entering the election campaign but defending his own reputation which had been attacked.

"I hate to say this, I really do, but he's just lacking in guts or inability to substantiate his wild statements," said Ald. Dowell.

Later, Ald. McEwen said suggestions of prearrangements for sale of seven city lots on Kingston hinged on a letter written by a real estate agent regarding discussions with Mayor Scurrell.

Ald. McEwen, who said he wanted to clear up the point because it first was raised by him and now has become a campaign issue, pointed out that the mayor could not be held responsible for something

Liberal, Socred Do Comeback In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Liberal-Progressives took a seat from the Manitoba Progressive Conservative government in one of four provincial byelections Thursday.

The government retained two seats—its healthy majority undisturbed—while Social Credit made a comeback to gain one from the Liberal-Progressives.

The result left the government with 35 seats in the 57-seat house. The Liberal-Progressives, Manitoba's version of the Liberal party, now have 11 and the title of official opposition.

The CCF, which did not contest any of the byelections, holds 10 seats.

SOCRED COMEBACK

Jacob M. Froese, by winning the Rhineland seat for Social Credit, became the party's first successful candidate in Manitoba since 1953. Rhineland was left vacant by the death of former Liberal-Progressive cabinet minister W. C. Wally Miller.

Mrs. Thelma Forbes became the only woman member of the legislature by retaining Cypress for the Conservatives. J. Douglas Watt retained Arthur for the government by defeating Liberal-Progressive E. H. Patmore.

Mayor E. I. Dow of Boissevain, a Liberal-Progressive, defeated Progressive Conservative R. C. Bob Aitkens to win the Turtle Mountain seat, formerly held by Lieutenant-Governor Erick Willis, a Conservative.

Former premier D. L. Campbell, Manitoba Liberal-Progressive, said, "We held our own as far as seats were concerned and we certainly increased our popular vote very greatly."

Mr. Froese, who had help from Social Credit speakers from Alberta and Saskatchewan, saw his win in Rhineland as a victory "not for myself but for Social Credit." He expected the victory to start a new trend towards Social Credit in Manitoba.

Mr. Froese won over D. K. Friesen, Liberal-Progressive publisher of a weekly newspaper in Altona, and farmer Leo Recksiedler, who ran unsuccessfully for the Conservatives against Mr. Miller last May.

The unofficial total vote in the four ridings was 16,265 compared with 17,277 in May. The percentage who voted was about 63 per cent of those eligible compared with 67 per cent in May.

New Ottawa Trip to Seek Shipyard Aid

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Tom Alsbury will lead a delegation to Prime Minister Diefenbaker in Ottawa Monday to warn the government of an impending unemployment crisis in the west coast shipbuilding industry.

A brief to be presented warns that unless the government takes action, unemployment takes action, employment will reach an all-time low in the near future.

The delegation, consisting of the mayor, Walter S. Owen, Vancouver Board of Trade; Lloyd Whalen, Vancouver and District Labor Council president; Sam B. Jenkins, Shipyard General Workers Federation of B.C. and D. H. Chapman, Metal Trades Council, is from the citizens' committee on shipyard employment, which has members in Burnaby, North and West Vancouver, New Westminster and Vancouver.

New Pipeline Link To Mediterranean Set

PARIS (Reuters)—Plans to build a 470-mile pipeline from the Mediterranean to project on the French coast, France, and Karlsruhe, West Germany, have been completed.

The line is a joint venture of eight French and eight foreign oil companies. It is scheduled to begin operating Jan. 1, 1963, with an initial annual output of 10,000,000 tons.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States plans another stab into space in about two weeks, this time a probe toward Venus but nowhere close to that distant planet. The shot would be to test radio signals from greater distances in outer space.

The launching vehicle would be a Thor-Able rocket and the orbit would be around the sun.

'Secret Life of Dickens' Exposed

LONDON (AP)—A distinguished actor charged today that Charles Dickens, the great moralist of Victorian fiction, lived in sin with a pretty actress and flouted the law to hide the birth of their illegitimate child.

The accusation came from Felix Aylmer, a star of the London theatre for more than 40 years, in a book called Dickens Incognito.

It has for some years been accepted that Dickens near the end of his life was in love with Ellen Ternan, an actress of great beauty, and would have married her if divorce from his wife had been possible.

Aylmer claims to have established beyond doubt that

Dickens in fact lived with her as man and wife in Slough, 25 miles west of London.

He takes his evidence from a cryptic diary for 1867 which Dickens lost in New York. It now is in the Berg collection of the New York Public Library.

Aylmer went to Slough and by studying rent books and local tax records found that Dickens lived there with Ellen Ternan under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Tringham.

He then investigated a diary entry for April 13, 1867. It said: "At Sl. at 2 1/2 arrival." He took this to mean the arrival of a child at 2.30 that afternoon.

Facts and Mr. Smith

MR. J. DONALD SMITH HAS again resorted to innuendo in his campaign for the mayoralty. He has voiced his personal suspicions that something was wrong with certain city land deals—and has failed to support those suspicions with hard fact.

He has denied a City Council spokesman the immediate opportunity to answer the vague points he has raised.

And he has refused a challenge to appear before the City Council to give substance to his implied charges—though obviously the City Council is the place where he should have produced the facts.

Is this the way to create public confidence in his ability to serve as Victoria's mayor?

"I am not accusing anyone of misdoings," he said at one point in his campaign meeting—the same meeting where Alderman Geoffrey Edgelow was denied permission to speak on the points the candidate raised. But, added Mr. Smith, "I think something was wrong with these arrangements. I think we are entitled to find out what. That's all."

But how anxious is Mr. Smith to find out?

Not anxious enough, apparently, to hear any explanation that Alderman Edgelow might have given. Not anxious enough to appear before the City Council to present facts. And not anxious enough to accept an offer from one of the Victoria concerns he named to give him the details on a deal which Mr. Smith questions.

The candidate says Mayor Scurrah visited a View Street property with Standard Furniture officials, "the Dennys I believe" on or about October 27. He adds that he has a photostatic copy of a telegram sent to the property's owner in California the next day, offering a price which would have to be accepted, if at all, in two days. The plan for the View Street parking centre, Mr. Smith says, was not publicly announced until the first two or three days of November. "Was there collusion in the purchase of this property?" he asks.

In an independent statement the solicitor for the Standard Furniture interests states that his principals had been negotiating for the purchase of the property in 1951 and again in 1952. They temporarily abandoned negotiations but finally purchased the property in the fall of 1958. The property, says the solicitor, has been offered for sale to the city, and is still available, at the price paid by the company.

"Mr. T. G. Denny," the solicitor adds, "also informs me that he recently offered to give all these facts to Mr. Smith, but that Mr. Smith refused the offer."

Is this the reaction of a person who wants information, who desires facts?

Or is it the reaction of a man who considers his political ends served best by the promotion of suspicion and the careful avoidance of answers to the questions he asks?

Chicken and Chalk Line

THERE IS A STORY THAT IF a chicken's beak is placed on the floor and a chalk line drawn from it, the chicken will follow the chalk line to its end and stop there, or fall over, in a form of hypnosis.

Has Western society become the chicken for the chalk line of technological and scientific advance drawn by Russia?

Some observers are beginning to suggest that it has and that the chicken should lift its head and look around.

John Allan May, writing in The Christian Science Monitor, is among those who propose such action.

Nothing, he says, can take away from either the historic significance or the technical brilliance of the other side of the moon. In space, he adds, the Soviet Union is two, maybe even five, years ahead of the West and drawing away.

But, he argues, in certain other important fields, the West remains a like or greater distance ahead of Russia.

He cites housing and asks how long it is since an American or a Briton, as a matter of routine, shared a room with someone else, perhaps a stranger, and called it home. If plans are fulfilled, he adds, there should be an average of two Soviet citizens per room by 1965.

He lists other items: Russia is about 35 years behind the United States in car ownership.

By 1965 Russia expects to have 6.5 television sets per 100 people. Britain today has 15.1 per cent, the United States 27.4.

Mechanical aids in the American home are 20 years ahead of the Russian. In the production of good woollens the United States is 60 years ahead of the U.S.S.R. and so on.

It is easy enough to downgrade these Western achievements, to call them the products of a material age and the soulless attributes of society grown fat.

Maybe they are. At the same time they represent goals to which Russians aspire and for which the people of the U.S.S.R. are longing.

A refrigerator in every house, a car in every garage does not compare with a successful moonshot. Neither does a moonshot compare with a refrigerator in every house or a car in every garage. Which is the point Mr. May makes.

All is not lost to the West, he seems to say.

There are of course circumstances involving the scientific excellence of moonshots which could cause that loss.

Canada and Divorce

OTTAWA REPORTS THAT new efforts are being made to amend Canada's divorce law. This is an old story and there is at present no indication that the current attempt will proceed further than others which died either in the Senate or the Commons.

It is significant, nevertheless, that this is the third major effort in five years. The forces supporting change are energetic. They are apparently unwilling to let the issue rest.

When the grounds for divorce are limited almost entirely to adultery in Canada (Nova Scotia also includes cruelty) the need for amendment is obvious.

The present move, it is reported, would include desertion, cruelty and incurable insanity. These seem to provide adequate reasons for dissolution of the marriage contract.

But that is only one part of the story. While adultery remains virtually the sole grounds, the courts cannot escape the abuses imposed upon them by too harsh conditions. People who have failed in marriage, whose only hope of regaining a normal life rests on permanent separation and remarriage, will obviously resort to subterfuge when no alternative exists.

Manufactured evidence and perjury are common ingredients of the indecency which accompanies divorce proceedings so frequently in Canada today.

What purpose is being served by retaining such a system?

Certainly the bar of British Columbia sees none—a point which it has made evident on numerous occasions.

Very possibly the present effort to amend the law will fail, as others have before it. But the persistence with which thoughtful people are repeating their demands for change will eventually prevail.

Everyone Likes a Horse

GARY COOPER DOESN'T know why people watch TV horse opera because it always shows the same story. This is the man who began in the moving picture silent westerns, advanced to more serious parts and progressed, or regressed, to "High Noon".

With a dozen simple variations,

perhaps, less, the horse opera is the same story over and over again. But with a few more variations, so is drama in general, say the researchers. Didn't they run down all funny stories to seven common roots?

However threadbare the plot, the western retains one outstanding appeal. Almost everyone likes a horse.

"I say, we must be tolerant of Quidneigh... hasn't quite recovered from following John..."

AN INVITATION TO LAND

You Can Fool Some of the Ducks...

A NEWS item tells of a new mechanized decoy duck that is being manufactured in Missouri. The duck is so perfectly colored and designed that any duck, even with 20-20 vision, would take it for a cousin or a brother. But the final touch is that this decoy duck swims. It paddles out across a pond leaving ripples that can be seen by any duck flying overhead, and it is good for eight to ten hours of activity, spurred on by a battery—a wet cell of course—concealed in its innards.

Providing there are no short circuits, your six-volt Mallard or electronic Butternut will parade its painted finery for all to see, and lure the flesh-and-blood travellers in to supper, death and the sportsman's deep-freeze.

But what struck me about the item was the opening sentence. It said: "It's getting so a duck doesn't have a chance any more."

And on reading that, we're supposed to laugh at those poor, silly ducks, falling for a gimmick like that.

You Too Duck

But who's laughing? Just among us ducks, we're in exactly the same spot ourselves.

Who gets lured into hearing and seeing TV commercials by decoys in the form of quiz geniuses who pretend they can answer any question you ask them? Just us ducks, that's who.

Who gets lured in to the store with the fabulous price reductions—the fire sale, closing out sale, renovation sale—when the fellow next door sells the same article for less any day of the week? Let one of the ducks in the back row answer.

Let us not feel contemptuous of the real duck who gets taken in by a decoy that looks like a duck and swims like a duck. Old homo sapiens gets taken in by decoys which would never fool any self-respecting pintail or canvasback.

Solid Evidence

Remember the oil well that fast-talking salesman sold you—those certificates in the old bureau drawer? That was the day you were shot down over the pond as you came in for a landing beside an electrified piece of painted wood.

Remember the used car you bought with the wonderful two-tone color job? The one that you later found needed a re-bore, new radiator, new battery, rebuilt transmission and a set of brake linings? That was another time when you slid in beside a decoy and got shot down before you touched water.

Remember the young woman you met at the party? The one who preened her feathers so prettily and swam in such inviting circles over the smooth surface of the social pond? How could you have known that the pretty feathers were painted on, that the soft-appearing plumage concealed a hardwood heart?

Or move into a wider field. Here's a man who says he will increase your income, reduce your taxes, ensure permanent employment, give you everything you want but at the same time charge you less, and run the country for you as it has never been run before. He looks like a genuine duck, and although he can't swim he can certainly quack. You prepare to land beside him and rest on his pond—and before you know it you're a dead duck.

Or take the fellow who calls you from the peaceful feeding grounds below. Nothing but peace down here, he quacks—lots of room to co-exist—nothing but peace, peace, peace. And he's right on two counts. You might coast in to a landing and win a piece of lead and the peace of death.

These may be embarrassing things to bring up. Man likes to think of himself as a little smarter than the rest of the feathered, furred and thin-skinned creatures. But the record isn't too good.

Who's Fooling?

We may fool a duck with a battery-operated bird that swims. But the odds are good that we'll fool ourselves, too.

Any time now we'll read a news item to the effect that some hunter, taking a mean advantage of sitting ducks, has shot up a hundred dollars worth of battery-powered decoys belonging to his neighbor, in the belief that they were the real thing.

To be perfectly frank, man is one of the most gullible of the earth's fauna. He's such an easy mark that even man can fool him. As the fellow in Missouri might also have said, it's getting so a man doesn't have a chance any more.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Delighted

We are delighted that Dr. McLean has decided to take an active part in civic affairs. If other men of Dr. McLean's calibre would enter the government at all levels, there would be less reason for cynicism in the conduct of public business. We need men of mature years, sound judgment and the highest personal integrity. Their reward will lie in the approbation of their fellow citizens.

No Alcan Gimmick

We are told by the anti's that the reason the pro-fluoridationists are so active is because the Aluminum Company of Canada has to get rid of surplus fluorides. Maybe the copy of a letter to Dr. Gordon Bates, general director, Health League of Canada, may make them think.

(MISS) F. PATERSON.

1340 Richardson Street.

Dear Dr. Bates:

Despite rumors to the contrary, I assure you that the Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited does not either directly or indirectly produce any compound of fluorine which can be used in any way in the fluoridation of water supplies.

This Company has no position whatsoever in the fluoridation of water supply.

To Save Life

I understand Mr. Gagliardi has stated the closing of the Lions Gate bridge was justified to save a life.

I would suggest Mr. Gagliardi, in his role as minister of highways, adhere closer to his philosophy namely, the erection of stop signs where necessary also pedestrian crossing and the elimination of dangerous curves as well as decreasing rather than increasing the speed limits on two lane roads carrying four lane highway traffic. This should be done before more useful lives are sacrificed.

Park in Oak Bay

The proposal for a new park in Oak Bay is, I am sure, a wonderful idea. With the ever increasing population, government at all levels should make an effort to provide parks and open spaces for our future.

The council in Oak Bay is to be congratulated for its foresight in this matter. I think it most important that the area be kept in its natural state and also without roads breaking it up into small pieces. Parking could be arranged artistically in certain areas which would not obtrude on the general lovely picture.

Victoria has many beautiful formal gardens. Surely we should strive to keep these lovely spots where every spring the blues and yellows present the most beautiful and uplifting picture to the beholder. I have watched with regret this beautiful picture vanish in other parts of the Uplands, and the only other place of any size where this display could be seen is in Beacon Hill Park, where this spring it was an unforgettable sight.

In my humble opinion I think we should try and preserve some part of our beautiful picture in its natural state.

M. P. PAINE.

3620 Quadra Street.

Science and Religion

Your correspondent, M. G. Hannaford, in his reply to my earlier letter, has mentioned the main factor governing human behavior and that is religion.

Religion in many respects is a worthwhile institution in our society. Unfortunately, however, because of its indisputable nature, it has stood in the way of scientific and intellectual progress for centuries. Faith must not be challenged by reason.

Witness the persecution of the early-day scientists. "The laboratory is a late-comer on the human scene... the tribunals for heresy, the stake, are far older as molding instruments of belief and more direct and effective.... The price Galileo paid for his acceptance and advocacy of the Copernican doctrine was humiliation and the condemnation of the church." (From "The Story of Human Error," by Joseph Jastow.)

And so Galileo was gagged and Bruno was burnt.

Fortunately, after the separation of Church and State, religion held only an indirect influence. Consequently, science made great progress and it still is making progress.

Nevertheless, religion is still the basis for our laws and social morality. It is high time that science replaced religion in regulating social behavior, especially in the field of human sexual conduct.

LONDON LETTER:

Without Cheers

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE is to come to London next April. Here is an occasion for remembrance. Will the President wish to revisit the haunts which the General knew so well between 1940 and 1944? Even if he should have forgotten Carlton House Terrace in the responsibilities of his recent dignity, he may be sure that some people here have not.

They will be ready to welcome a man who stood by his country when it was almost alone. Whether the London crowd will be equally ready is another matter.

It does turn out for a few men, like President Eisenhower, but it more often takes these visits calmly. If the streets are thinly lined one hopes the French will not take it as a political gesture. It will just be London going about its business.

The itinerary of the state visit is not yet known. The President will presumably follow the common round of heads of state—Buckingham Palace, Guildhall, and (a pinch of irony here) Harwell.

There could be French variations like the laying of a wreath on Foch's statue at Victoria or an inspection of that great French cultural asset the Lycee at South Kensington.

Reducing Misery

The season of private members' bills has just opened in the new Parliament and gives special point to an examination of the scope for this type of legislation which Mrs. Lena Jeger, formerly Labor member for Holborn and St. Pancras South, has contributed to the current "Political Quarterly".

She is concerned with "the politics of the non-political"—the difficulty of legislating on matters affecting private morality and behaviour. She, of course, would like the Labor party, "with its radical traditions and sporadic iconoclasm," to launch a deliberate attack on all statutes which add to human misery and fear.

But Mrs. Jeger does not want to wait for that millennium. She addresses herself to considering how the law may be changed when controversy makes a subject "unsuitable" for a private member's bill and other considerations make it undesirable for Government action.

The most hopeful line, she suggests, would be for a Government to overhaul all existing legislation on private morality and behaviour, and thus leave "non-political" problems as sins rather than crimes.

No Farmyard Whiff

The new Lord Mayor certainly succeeded in showing Londoners that agriculture is a modern, mechanized, and highly organized industry.

The children who waited in the cold with their parents on Saturday morning to watch the Lord Mayor's Show waved their favors at the floats carrying the Pig Industry Development Authority, the Egg Board, the Fat-stock Marketing Corporation, fertilizers, and pest control, and at the combine harvester and grass cutters, but they could hardly have been carried away with the romance of the countryside.

There was not a trace of mud on the brightly painted tractors driven by men in white overalls; there was not even a whiff of the farmyard. The two live cows were surrounded by tubes, gleaming metal, and white-coated men.

This part of the procession was all very hygienic, very well-ordered, and very dull. But there were compensations.

Two of the roughriders had a very rough ride; there were 14 bands, mounted hunt servants, beagles, men with guns and fishing rods, and, of course, the brilliant scarlet and gold state chariot carrying Sir Edmund Stockdale himself.

Zebra House

Zebra House, the hostel in Kensington closely linked to the Capricorn Society, has for some weeks been the home of 10 men and women from this country and Africa.

They and many other volunteers keen on making a success of this experiment in multi-racial living have been working hard to complete the alterations and decoration. The result is a bright, lively, and comfortable house which will soon have 18 residents drawn from all over the Commonwealth.

As the whole point of the hostel in Marlow Road is to provide a friendly, family atmosphere which the residents will remember when they go home, it is hoped it will be widely used by people from Central and East Africa who are not able to experience any close relationship with members of another race in their own countries.

A number of places are reserved for English people. Mr. Nigel Bruce, chairman of the "Zebra House" board, says that "Kensington people could help by offering a spare room to the warden for occasional use."

Brighter Lights

The new Minister of Transport is a great one for personal investigations. These are the foggy nights and he ought to go out and look around to learn about how deficient so many motor-cars are in their lighting.

Even those which have all the lights demanded by the law can be dangerously dim in a heavy mist. The London taxi-cab in particular depends upon a pair of rear lights which were no doubt adequate 40 years ago.

As we move towards modern roads and higher speeds surely it is time to take a less Victorian view of lights? The whole concept of "lighting-up time" is grievously outdated, even in the streets of London (let alone on what few high-speed roads we have).

It looks as though the time has come to place on drivers the responsibility to have their lights on at any time of the day or in any climatic conditions which seem to make lights necessary. This is the rule rigorously followed by the drivers of London Transport.

None of My Business But...

SINCE United Press International reported that 1,050 birds were shot in an all-day pheasant hunt by a party of eight members in England the other day, I've been telling myself it's none of my business.

It isn't my business for several reasons.

I'm not a hunter. I don't know the tradition of pheasant shoots in England. Also I'm not a vegetarian. I have no compunction about eating meat or fowl killed by someone else. Furthermore I kill fish (very infrequently, unfortunately) occasionally rats and mice.

Just the same, I kept dividing 1,050 birds by eight hunters and coming up with something just over 130 birds per hunter. That's a lot of pheasants.

The sports department tells me the season's bag limit in British Columbia is 10 and that four pheasants are the most a hunter can kill in one day—and that only in a district where the daily limit is above average.

It is improper to compare British Columbia and British practice in pheasant shooting. One of my friends, professing no great knowledge on the subject, explained that pheasants are raised in parts of Britain just for the shooting.

"Don't forget, these game birds are about the same as poultry with us. They're hatched and reared for the shooting season and belong to the person who pays for them," my friend pointed out.

"Ask yourself this: Did you break down and cry when you thought of how many turkeys had their heads chopped off to make this week's American Thanksgiving? Do you weep when you think of a poultry farmer slipping a knife through the roof of a chicken's mouth to make a roaster or a fryer?"

"Did you ever turn down a chicken or turkey dinner when it was offered to you and you were hungry?"

Stott

"And remember that while quite a few pheasants were shot, most of them were probably gathered up and packed off to orphanages, or something like that. They weren't wasted."

"If you still worry about 130 birds a day per hunter, figure it in terms of trap shooting. Would it worry you to think of a skeet artist knocking clay pigeons apart? After all, the pheasants were raised to become hunters' targets."

My friend is right, I guess. But the phrase "All them pheasants" keeps running through my ungrammatical mind.

Probably my trouble arises from knowing only two types of hunters in this country. Some of them live way out beyond and they shoot for the pot. They aren't too fussy about observing game regulations when there's no warden around. They hunt for food and they don't waste anything.

The other type lives closer to home and goes hunting as much for the exercise and the smell of the outdoors as for game. They like climbing hills, walking through meadowland, scrambling around downed timber and "going pioneer." If they happen to knock down a bird or any other critter in season, so much the better—provided it's not too heavy to pack out.

Those who are my friends have a very particular opinion of fellow hunters who go in for mass slaughter—and they express that opinion in terms that smell of burned cordite.

Of course these are people who go hunting—not necessarily "shootin'."

It takes a split personality like mine to differentiate between pheasants raised for shooting and chickens raised for roasting or frying, I guess.

Just the same, I'd be a little worried if any of my poultry farming friends began to enjoy slaughtering their birds for market.

To be consistent, I suppose I should quit fishing, particularly since I don't eat fish.

As I said, English pheasant shooting is none of my business. Possibly there are therapeutic values in the pastime. After knocking down 130 game birds in a day, it's quite possible that a scattergun enthusiast would be kindly and considerate to a bunch of clay pigeons.

ROYAL NURSERY RIDDLES

By STEWART MACLEOD

Baby Talk: Press Ga-Ga

LONDON (CP) — If the Queen reads London newspapers and presumably she does, she scarcely needs a doctor for her pregnancy. Reporters are doing fine.

"The baby will arrive in the last week of January or the first week in February," announces one writer.

"The birth... is more likely to take place at 3 a.m.," decides another.

"The third baby is likely to be heavier than Princess Anne who weighed only six pounds," is a third prediction.

TWINS FORECAST
"Odds... are still slightly in favor of a boy," says another reporter.

At this point there appears to be some doubts.

"The odds are higher that it might be twins," is the conflicting report.

But this last dispatch is firmly dealt with by a Daily Express writer. "I can reveal that there is no evidence that the Queen is going to have twins."

The British press has been having a field day with the Queen's pregnancy, and the tempo shows no signs of slackening. Doctors, nurses and midwives have been interviewed about childbirth.

Mothers and fathers have been quoted on the problems of raising three-child families. Psychiatrists and psychologists have been consulted on rearing a baby nine years younger than the next child.

QUEEN ELIZABETH... reporters doing fine

While most newspapers persistently nibble on the subject, The Daily Express is the unchallenged champion of royal baby research.

EVERY ANGLE

By reading its articles one learns that the third birth is easier than the first two, that the painful stage will last only six to eight hours, that postnatal exercises relieve backache and that the average mother gains a permanent eight pounds with a third child.

Even the qualifications of the Queen's obstetrician, John Peel, are duly discussed, along with his outlook on most subjects.

In other newspapers one can learn what the baby is likely to receive in the line of gifts.

One reporter spied an acquaintance of the Royal Family buying a tiny pair of Donald Duck slippers. It was a scoop.

Statistics have been compiled to show what percentage of British mothers have three children, what percentage give birth to triplets, and how much it costs to raise a three-child family.

Mingled with this are such delightful observations as: "Isn't it nice that the Queen, like so many British mothers, is having her baby at home?"

MAKARIOS FACES FIGHT IN CYPRUS ELECTION

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Lawyer John Clerides, known as the elder statesman of the Greek community on Cyprus, announced Thursday night that he has accepted nomination as a candidate opposing Archbishop Makarios in the island's coming presidential election.

Clerides, 75-year-old former mayor of Nicosia, was nominated by the Democratic Union, a political party formed earlier this month.

The Democratic Union was founded to fight for a non-dictatorial president and to oppose heavy expenditure on the future republic's armed forces. The election will be held Dec. 13.

Clerides was among the few Greek Cypriots who denounced the four-year campaign of violence aimed at gaining independence for this British island colony.

PM 'Misleading' Voters—Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposi-
Thursday night that the Progressive Conservative government's "huckstering approach to politics . . . seems to me to rest on a low and demeaning concept of political service."

The Liberal party leader, speaking on the CBC's nationally televised program The Nation's Business, said Prime Minister Diefenbaker was guilty of "misleading and inaccurate statements" on the same program two weeks ago.
He said the prime minister claimed credit for an increase of $459,000,000 in social security payments since the Conservatives took office two years ago.

"The fact is that . . . only $95,000,000 is due to action of the Tory government." Most of the increase had resulted from legislation inaugurated by the former Liberal administration.

Mr. Pearson also accused the government of deceiving the people in promising in two election campaigns "that further benefits could be given without more taxes."

He said the prime minister had boasted about the government's increased unemployment insurance payments, which in fact were paid for mainly by employers and workers.

'Try Fluorides For Ten Years'

Victorians Can Throw It Out
If They Don't Like It—Dentist

(See Also Page 15)

If the fluoridation vote in Greater Victoria next month goes down to defeat "we may as well forget about it for 10 years," city dentist Dr. W. W. McLuhan said Thursday.

He asked the public here to "try it for 10 years, and if you don't want it, throw it out."

Victoria medical practitioner
Dr. Hugh Borsman said there was no attempt by the medical profession to "push anything down the public throat," on the fluoridation question, "although 160 doctors and 60-odd dentists here believe fluoridation a worthwhile measure."

The doctors were the targets of question at a press conference arranged by the Victoria
Chamber of Commerce.

They knocked down every point brought up by anti-fluoridation speakers recently, particularly those made by Dr.
F. B. Exner and Dr. Arthur McWhinnie, a radiologist and dentist from Seattle.

85-Year Debate

There was no association between the aluminum companies and fluorides, as had been charged, "either directly or indirectly."

Either the Seattle dentist and radiologist were wrong, or the Canadian government and the University of Toronto Faculty of Dentistry was wrong, he said.

Pictures of mottled teeth shown by the Seattle pair, purporting to show effects of fluorides, were those of an Arkansas patient who had absorbed more than 14 times the one part per million used in water systems.

The discussion concerning fluoridation of drinking water "has been going on for 85 years, and apparently some people of Victoria want it to go on for another 85 years," the dentist said.

Dr. McLuhan branded statements of the Seattle men "a tissue of falsehood."

On charges that use of fluo-rides corroded water pipes, he pointed out that use of the chemical for 15 years in Brantford, Ont., had "no effect" on the pipes.

This information was contained in a letter received from the Brantford Public Utilities Commission.

He took exception to the term "mass medication" and said use of fluorides was preventive medicine.

Fluorides, he said, were needed from the day of birth, but one couldn't give a baby "strong tea" which contains fluorides, or force a fluoride pill down the child's throat.

Claims by the Seattle team that the American Medical Association does not endorse use of fluorides, Dr. McLuhan branded entirely incorrect.

"They have endorsed it on eight different occasions" since 1957.

Charges that fluorides had a detrimental effect on the aged or chronically ill should be considered on the basis of fluoridation backing by the U.S. commission on chronic illness, he said.

This endorsement was the result of seven years' study.

Dr. Borsman said "our water supply here is deficient in fluo-rine, so we are advocating that this deficiency be remedied.
It's as simple as that."

Bad teeth, he pointed out, can impair a person's general health.

"There has never been a public health measure as thoroughly documented as fluoridation."

The entire issue, he said, is for the public good. Patients take a doctor's advice on health matters generally, but on the fluoridation question they back away, "and I plain don't understand it."

Dr. McLuhan added that when some 28,000 dentists endorsed fluoridation, it was "not unusual" to find 200 or 300 against it.

BOUQUET FOR MONTY

Well Fought, Sir Says Desert Foe

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters).—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Britain bumped into an old adversary Thursday—and received a pat on the back from him.

Maj. Gen. F. W. von Mellenthin of Germany, whose forces were put to flight at el Alamein, met Montgomery for the first time at a civic function here.

Late all generals, they sat down and refought the battle of the Second World War in which Montgomery's Eighth Army began its march across North Africa.

Von Mellenthin, who served as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's chief of staff, told the retired British soldier: "We knew right from the time you took over the Eighth Army that you were the man to beat us."

Both men agreed the decisive battle for the control of North Africa came at Alam Halfa Aug. 31, 1942, six weeks before El Alamein.

Montgomery was heavily criticized for withdrawing after that battle to build up his forces instead of driving straight to El Alamein.

But von Mellenthin, told him Thursday: "No, you were right to wait until you had the forces to send us back. When you attacked, you had five tanks to our one. In the end, you had 10 aircraft to one of ours."

"You did the right thing."

Mountbatten Backs Ike

LONDON (UPI).—Earl Mountbatten, Britain's top-ranking military official, Wednesday night came to the defence of President Eisenhower's record as supreme allied commander during the Second World War.

Speaking at an American Thanksgiving Day dinner, Earl Mountbatten called Eisenhower a "great commander" and asked: "Who else on the allied side, or on the other side, could possibly have done the job that General Eisenhower did as supreme allied commander?"

He said Eisenhower must have felt terribly alone when the time came to give the order to invade France on D-Day with the greatest invasion force in history.

"He gave the word to go, and I believe that single order was one of the greatest orders anyone was called upon to give, and history has shown how right that decision was," Mountbatten said.

Britain Helps India

LONDON (Reuters).—Britain will lend India a further £19,000,000 ($50,730,000) under an agreement signed in London this week, the Commonwealth relations office announced Thursday. The loan forms part of a joint program of assistance to India agreed upon in Washington by the United States, Canada, West Germany, Japan and Britain last March under international bank auspices.

121 KILLED BY JAVA TERRORISTS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP).—A terrorist attack by 500 armed men, women and children took at least 121 lives in the west Java village of Tjibugel Tuesday, reports reaching Jakarta disclosed Thursday.

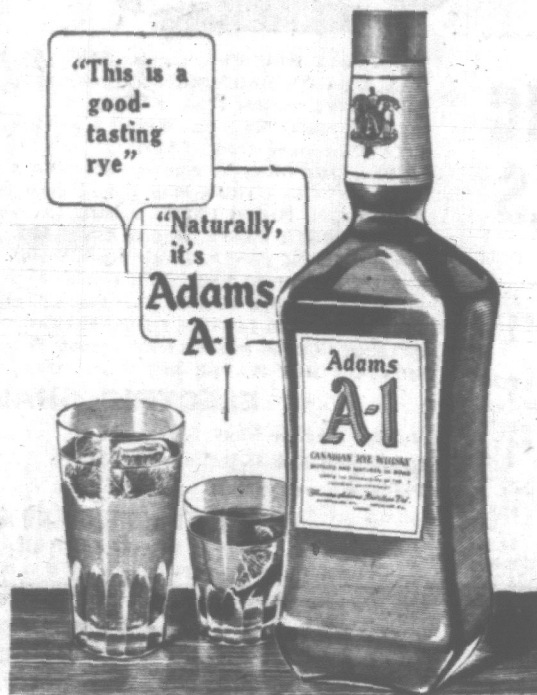

The terrorists, believed to be members of the fanatic Darul Islam sect of Moslems, swooped down on the village after over-running a small army post on the outskirts.

They burned more than 400 houses and the village school. At least 65 other villagers were wounded. About 4,000 fled.

The reports said more persons were killed and wounded in an attack on the neighboring village of Balubur Limbangan. Details of the attack there are unavailable.

Beatnik Group 'Sent' Him

It would be better if Canadians and Americans spoke different languages, Rev. William Hills told the Victoria branch of the English Speaking Union Thursday night.

"While we both speak English, misunderstandings arise because of different connotations given to certain words," he said.

Just returned from a trip to San Francisco, Mr. Hills said Canadians should be tactful in what they say when visiting over the border.

Canada and the United States have different backgrounds and must be treated as such.

"Americans are children of a revolution and, as long as the spirit of 1776 is kept alive, we will never be able to put a Canadian on one side of a table and an American on the other and get them to see eye to eye on problems facing the two countries."

On the other hand, he said, Americans visiting Canada should be made aware that they are "walking the streets of a realm of the British Commonwealth and coming into a royal domain" instead of "taking over and walking around as if they owned the joint."

While in San Francisco, Mr. Hills said he searched out a beatnik assembly on Powell Street.

Wearing his clerical collar and in company with an American naval officer, he visited a place where a bearded man recited poetry extemporaneously to the accompaniment of a jazz group.

"I was really sent," he said. "They are as far gone as you would imagine from the stories you read about them... but I think this is a passing phase which will soon be forgotten."

Mr. Hills is minister of St. George the Martyr Anglican Church at Cadboro Bay.

GAS SALE DEBATE SET

QUEBEC (CP) — The Liberal opposition in the legislative assembly Thursday night paved the way for a full-scale debate on the controversial 1957 sale of the publicly-owned Montreal gas distribution system of Québec Hydro to the Québec Natural Gas Corporation.

In the first non-confidence motion of the legislature session the Liberals expressed regret the government did not announce in the throne speech that a royal commission would be established to inquire into the sale.

Speaker Maurice Teller ruled the motion in order.

$15,000 Family Court Cost-Bonner

Experience with a juvenile and family court at Vancouver indicates one could be operated here for $15,000 annually, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Thursday.

The statement agreed with estimates made last month by David Woodsworth, executive director of the Family and Children's Service here. He said cost would be only $10,000 more than costs of the present juvenile court, and this would be shared by the participating municipalities. "They'd spend as much on a lamp post," he said.

Mr. Bonner said a family court judge would be paid about $8,500 a year and the clerk of the court, $4,800. The municipalities would also share on a per capita basis, the travelling expenses of a full-time probation officer, whose salary is paid by the province. And the province would consider providing an additional probation officer, if required.

'LEASE-BACK' PLAN URGED

Plenty of Money For Attractions

TOURIST CASH VITAL TO ALL

A Victoria inn operator Thursday disclosed a unique method he uses to remind business firms not directly connected with tourists how important their dollars are to the city's economy.

Tourist trade group chairman Sam Lane said, every statement and cheque he sends to city firms bears the stamp: "This bill is paid with tourist dollars."

He urged members of the group to follow his practice so all businesses "might be sold on the idea that everyone benefits from tourist spending."

Welcome Mat Up to Gov't Say Jaycees

Pressure is going to be put on the provincial public works department to maintain Victoria's famed floral welcome mat located in front of the Legislative Buildings below Belleville Street.

Tourist trade group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce Thursday night promised to appeal to Works Minister Chant after Junior Chamber of Commerce spokesman Roy Baker said Jaycees will not spend $450 to maintain the "Welcome to Victoria" floral carpet next year.

Mr. Baker said Jaycees' request for government aid was turned down by Recreation Minister Westwood. Mr. Baker said Works Minister Chant hadn't even replied to a Jaycee letter. Mr. Baker said he suspected Mr. Chant was stalling on the matter.

Jaycees began five years ago to have the burden of maintenance of the floral mat shifted to the provincial government, said Mr. Baker.

The government buys the plants for the mat and should assume all or part of the maintenance costs since it owns the land, he said.

A Victoria realtor-motel operator said Thursday investors are ready to spend "millions of dollars on entertainment facilities in Victoria providing the attractions would be operated on a lease-back basis."

Ken Lowndes told the Tourist Trade group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce "money is no object" to the development of entertainment facilities "if we have somebody with guts" to operate them on a lease-back proposition.

(Under lease-back an investor provides capital for a building or facility and then leases it back to an operator, usually on a long-term basis.)

Lowndes disclosure came as the group discussed the possibility of asking developers such as Henry Kaiser, Billy Butlin and George Weston to provide needed entertainment attractions in a bid to lure more tourists to Victoria.

MANY ENQUIRIES

Lowndes said he had in his office letters from investors in Toronto and California who are willing to provide the necessary capital. He didn't identify the investors.

Among the attractions suggested were an exhibition area, waterfront pavilion with dining facilities and greyhound racing.

Ian Ross of Butchart's Gardens, cautioned the group that bringing in foreign capital might lead to criticism. He agreed with the principle that more evening attractions should be available to tourists but indicated concern over the possibility that foreign investors might turn Victoria "into another Coney Island."

The meeting decided to appoint a committee to look into the entertainment financing plan.

WINTER FERRY RUN TO CARRY CITY'S TOKEN

Tourist trade group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce intends to make sure the Black Ball Ferries Ltd. Coho carries a Canadian memento when she begins plying the Port Angeles-Victoria run later next month.

The group decided Thursday to participate with other civic groups in the presentation of a memento to the skipper of the Coho, scheduled to make her first trip here Dec. 18 or 20.

If no other presentations are planned, the group will present the Coho's skipper with a Canadian ensign "to remind American visitors 'they are coming to a foreign country.'"

The group also decided to conduct a Goodwill Tour in 1960. Chairing the committee which will prepare at least three itineraries is Vic Downard.

The group was told by motel operator Fred Martin that the B.C. Auto Courts and Resort Operators' Association will hold its 1960 convention in Victoria on Nov. 7-8-9.

Arabs Get U.S. Loan

CAIRO (AP)—The United States Development Loan Fund will give "expeditions consideration" to financing at least seven projects in the United Arab Republic, the loan fund managing director, Vance Brand, announced Thursday. Brand said the projects include government and private industrial plants for Alexandria, Cairo and Syria.

Plane Sought at Sea

HONOLULU (AP)—A sea and air search is under way for a navy jet plane with four men aboard that plunged into the Pacific 900 miles east of Wake Island Thursday. The men apparently bailed out, the navy said, after the pilot radioed he was lost and low on fuel.

Fishing Attracted Him

BY HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Hotels are born in the strangest ways. Take the latest one, a $600,000 plush job Victor Ingraham plans to build in the 2900 block Douglas.

For a considerable part of his life Ingraham has been associated with hotels. Six in all. The last two he operated in Whitehorse, Y.T.

Malone

Mr. Ingraham liked the hotel business and he liked Whitehorse. But he liked fishing more. And when winter comes to Whitehorse the only fishing one can indulge in is telling fabulous lies about "the one that got away."

This led to the sale of the Whitehorse hostelry last year.

Money in one hand, fishing gear in the other, Mr. Ingraham like all wise tourists looking for a good spot to fish, chose Vancouver Island.

He settled near Courtenay and went fishing.

As he tells it . . . "fishing was fine. But sport fishing is not exactly a means of keeping bread on the table." So he bought the Arbutus Hotel there to provide the bread while he went on doing what he liked best—fishing.

From time to time he motored into Victoria to see friends.

"Every time I tried to park near a downtown Victoria hotel I nearly went berserk before finding a spot," he said. "There didn't seem to be any."

Commercial travellers he had met at Whitehorse told him they suffered from similar parking pangs in Victoria.

Ingraham decided something should be done. He walked into Town and Country Homes Ltd., told them to find him a likely spot for a hotel where he could offer practically unlimited parking.

They did. As a result Farmer Construction this week began excavation on one and half acres at Douglas and Topaz. By May 30, 1960, Ingraham Hotels Ltd. expects to throw open the doors of a 50-room, three-storey hotel containing dining and beverage rooms.

Parking facilities? Certainly. "We'll be able to handle 200 cars," says Ingraham. "Maybe we won't need all that space at first. But we'll have it and I'm sure before too long it will be well occupied."

***

Business in many parts of Canada will grind to a halt for slightly more than two hours Saturday, all because 24 heavily-corseted and helmeted young men will butt heads in a national blowout for a tired, modest piece of silverware known as the Grey Cup.

Once considered primarily a sports classic, the annual Grey Cup struggle now ranks as one of Canada's top business promotions.

Consider these points:
1. Betting on the game is expected to involve $500,000. In Toronto alone there are single bets reported of as high as $10,000.

Left-Winger Named Cuba's Bank Chief

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro today named the leading left-winger and most outspoken anti-American in his official family, Maj. Ernesto Guevara, to head the Cuban National Bank.

MAJ. ERNESTO GUEVARA

The Argentine-born Guevara replaces Felipe Pazos, a financial conservative widely known in Latin-American financial circles, who was named ambassador at large for European economic affairs.

Two changes in the cabinet also were announced after a marathon cabinet session. Capt. Osmany Cienfuegos, brother of the late army chief, Maj. Camillo Cienfuegos, replaced Manuel Ray as minister of public works, and Capt. Rolando Diaz Azarain replaced Faustino Perez as minister for the "recuperation of stolen public property."

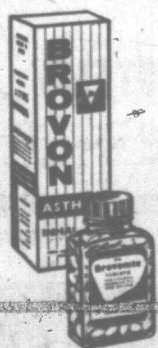

The two appointments weighted the cabinet in favor of veterans of Castro's revolutionary fighting forces, the ratio now being 11 military to seven civilians.

CHINA BUYS ALUMINUM

MONTREAL (CP)—Aluminum Company of Canada has sold about 5,000 tons of aluminum to Red China this year and hopes to make additional sales there, it was learned Thursday.

A company spokesman said the sales "have been made on a spot basis in the last four or five months."

Output of sheet metal by the Canadian printing trades in 1957 was valued at $204,000, compared with $160,900 the previous year.

Gas Export Hearing Opens Jan. 5

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Energy Board will open hearings here Jan. 5 on the bids of four companies to export huge quantities of Canadian natural gas to the United States.

The hearings will be the first since the board was created by Parliament last session to regulate oil and gas pipelines, imports and exports of gas and exports of electricity.

Foremost among the applications—and the oldest—is that of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited. After waiting four years, the company three weeks ago saw the U.S. federal power commission give U.S. firms the go-ahead to import Trans-Canada gas at Emerson, Man., for north-central states.

In terms of cost and gas volume, biggest proposed undertaking before the board is the $337,765,000 project of Alberta and Southern Gas Co. Ltd. to ship from Alberta to California about three times as much gas as Trans-Canada wants to export farther east. Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd. seeks to use part of the Alberta and Southern pipeline system to export gas to the mid-western states, and Canadian-Montana Pipe Line Co. wants to buy Alberta and Southern gas for export to its parent firm, Montana Power Co.

Is Bud Grant Planning Double Duty for Kenny Ploen?

KENNY PLOEN

By The Canadian Press

Did coach Bud Grant tip his defensive setup for Saturday's Grey Cup battle against Hamilton Tiger-Cats when he put Winnipeg Blue Bombers through Thursday's workout at Toronto?

Many of the bystanders are wondering. Grant had quarterback Kenny Ploen at safety as the offensive squad ran through several Hamilton pass patterns against the Bomber defence at the University of Toronto campus.

While Grant has maintained he will use Ploen at safety only in goal-line defences and other tight situations, it appeared that the Winnipeg quarterback was spending more than the usual time at the deep spot during the late afternoon practice.

Ploen excelled at the safety position during the regular season, intercepting 10 passes to tie a Western Interprovincial Football Union record, knocking down several others, and making many key tackles both deep on pass catches and in close on running backs.

He inherited the quarter-backing job in Bombers' second-last league game this year when regular Jim Van Pelt went out for the season with a shoulder separation. The signal-calling job was nothing new to Ploen, who quarterbacked Bombers to the Grey Cup final in 1957.

But when Ploen went to quarter, coach Grant wasn't too happy at having to use him both on offence and defence. Grant attempted to switch his defensive unit around, putting corner linebacker Gordie Rowland at safety and inserting Rick Potter, a former Toronto junior, in Rowland's position. It put a lot of pressure on Rowland.

Some feel that Grant will go with Ploen both ways since he's got to shoot the works in the single-game championship. The workout Ploen received Thursday indicated they may be right.

Ploen was in his glory at safety, roaming short and deep to knock down or intercept passes tossed by backfield coach Joe Zaleski, who was "playing" Hamilton quarterback Bernie Faloney in the practice.

Joe's favorite targets were half-back Leo Lewis, playing in Ti-Cat Tommy Grant's spot; end Ernie Pitts, taking short hook passes a la Paul Dekker; and speedy half Carver Shannon moving down deep as does Ticats' Ron Howell. Fullbacks Gerry James and Charlie Shepard carried out the assignments of Hamilton's Gerry McDougall and Ralph Goldston.

At Hamilton, the Tiger-Cats regard the Blue Bombers as the best football club they'll have met this season.

That's the word from Hamilton quarterback Bernie Faloney on the eve of the third straight cup final between the two clubs.

"The boys realize this is the best club we have met all year," Faloney said Thursday night, ranking Winnipeg a notch above Ticats' opposition in the Big Four.

"We're happy we're going into the game as the underdogs," he added.

Ticats held a final light running drill in mid-afternoon today before attending an early evening parade and pep rally.

Faloney said Winnipeg's greatest strength lies in its rushing offence with fullbacks Gerry James and Charlie Shepard and halfbacks Leo Lewis and Carver Shannon.

But he did not eliminate

Trimble, said he expects a high-scoring game. Both clubs would probably feel each other out in the first quarter but likely would break into wide open football in the second half.

After Thursday's 75-minute workout, Trimble said he will have to drop one player.

He said the choice would be between rookie tackle Bill MacDougall and halfback Billy Graham, a four-year veteran.

In view of the fact that rookie Bronco Nagurski, first-string offensive tackle, is unable to play because of a knee injury, there was speculation that Trimble will dress MacDougall as an extra lineman.

CAM FRASER ... Ticat kicking ace

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

Jim Van Pelt is sounding like the trainer who sends his boy into a championship fight with the words, "They can't hurt us."

Van Pelt, if you let your memory drift back 12 months, had a wonderful afternoon in Vancouver's Empire Stadium last November. He had the magic touch in his quarter-back slot and piloted Winnipeg Blue Bombers to a spectacular 35-28 Grey Cup triumph over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

That evened the score for a 32-7 Bomber loss to the Ticats the previous year and more or less makes it a rubber match when the Ticats and Bombers bash noses tomorrow at Toronto in the annual bit of muscular madness known as the Grey Cup Game.

Van Pelt makes it sound like the Bombers of coach Bud Grant are a cinch to pick up the marbles again. After watching Hamilton clobber Ottawa in the final game of the Big Four playoff, Jim remarked: "Every team in the west, except maybe Regina, could have beaten either team."

The only flaw in the fearless prediction is that Van Pelt won't have to back up his own words. He'll be sitting safely on the sidelines, nursing the shoulder separation he picked up in a late-season collision with Edmonton's Rolfe Miles. And he may have made things tougher for the current Winnipeg quarterback, Kenny Ploen, by giving the Bombers a bit of false confidence.

But Van Pelt has lots of company. It seems that just about everybody is believing the press notices and climbing on the Winnipeg bandwagon. Odds this morning rated the Bombers 6-5 favorites to make it two in a row.

Bernie Has Ability to Win Big Ones

But in the Times sports office things are just the same as they were a year ago. Times football editor Ernie Fedoruk has a bagful of theories why the Bombers of his native Prairies are again going to lower the boom on Jim Trimble's men and he's getting the usual argument from this corner. It might be mentioned that Ernie hit it right on the button with his prediction last year and I went down with the shipload of "experts" that picked the Ticats.

Partly from stubbornness and partly from the knowledge that one or two breaks can decide this one, I'm sticking with Hamilton.

For one thing, the Bombers appear to be just about equal in strength to last year. They'll miss Van Pelt, but they have a healthy Jerry James, who was sidelined last time with a broken leg. Ticats, beaten by only seven points last year when Van Pelt had a hot day, have more speed and a better defence with the addition of Gene Jones, Ernie Danjean, Duane Wood and Jim Taylor.

But most of all, Hamilton has quarterback Bernie Faloney, who looked just as good as Van Pelt in last year's cup clash. Faloney, who guided Edmonton to the Grey Cup in 1954 and the Ticats two years ago, is a guy who knows all the angles and has the ability to win the big games. Look for Bernie to be a hero when the shooting's over Saturday afternoon.

Slap at Ticats Could Hurt Bombers

The big danger for Faloney and his pals is the Winnipeg running threat presented by Ploen, Leo Lewis and Carver Shannon on the outside and James and Charlie Shepard down the middle.

Shepard is the key man. If he's right, the block-busting fullback could murder the Ticats with his power as he did last year. But big Charlie mixes bad games in with the good ones and has to be in the right frame of mind to fire his best shots.

That mental attitude is usually the deciding factor when two closely-matched football teams get together, and the talk of Winnipeg being favored should be just enough to give Shepard and the Bombers a dangerous feeling of complacency.

Jim Van Pelt has done his bit to help undermine the Bomber fortress. His slap at the Ticats might be just enough to tip the mental scales in favor of Hamilton.

Disregarding the advice of guys who know better, it says here it's the Tiger-Cats for at least one touchdown.

THREE WINNIPEG stars who could play important roles in Saturday's Grey Cup game at Toronto are passing the time

Snow Squashes Hopes Of Field Drying Out

TORONTO — Two inches of snow fell on Toronto this morning, providing a wintry setting for pre-Grey Cup festivities and little chance of the muddy field at the Canadian National Exhibition stadium drying out before Saturday.

The Dominion public weather office said in a special report, however, that the snow has petered out in the Toronto area and the storm centre which caused it is heading rapidly northeastward toward the Maritimes.

Prospects for the 50th Grey Cup tomorrow are promising, according to the weather forecasters.

"It looks like partly cloudy skies, light winds, and on the cool side with the game-time temperature hovering around 32 degrees," the report said.

Western money began making itself felt Thursday and there was a slowly widening point spread establishing Blue Bombers as favorites.

Thursday night the sharp-fingering Toronto gambling fraternity reported the spread at four points on a take-your-choice 6-to-5 basis. If you bet the Bombers, you lay 6 to 5 and give four points. If you bet the Tiger-Cats you also lay 6 to 5 but get four points.

Three football officials took a look at Exhibition Stadium Thursday and didn't like what they saw.

Don McPherson, of Regina, president of the Canadian Football League, later told Mayor Nathan Phillips that if Toronto wants the Grey Cup game again, "you'd better get someone who can look after a field."

McPherson visited the stadium at 10:30 a.m., along with football commissioner Sydney Halter, of Winnipeg, and Jake Gaudaur, president of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

At that time, six workmen were in the process of removing the tarpaulin. Patches of sodden turf, mud and ruts were in evidence.

McPherson and Halter described the field as in only fair shape. Gaudaur called it a "disgrace."

A Canadian Pacific Telegraph operator has been set up in a Winnipeg department store to send out the "world's longest telegram" to the Blue Bombers. For 10 cents, Winnipeggers can sign their names to the telegram, which will be sent just before the game as a measure of support.

Bombers and Tiger-Cats will play overtime in Saturday's game until a winner is decided if they are tied at the end of regulation time.

Canadian Football League officials said Thursday that after a 15-minute rest period the teams will play 20-minute overtime sessions divided into 10-minute halves.

PLAYERS' NUMBERS FOR TV VIEWERS

Television coverage of the Grey Cup festivities and game will start at 7 a.m. Saturday with the parade through downtown Toronto over Channels 2 and 6.

At 9:30 cameras will go to the CNE Stadium for a half-hour pre-game telecast. Game time is 10 a.m. (PST).

Radio coverage will be restricted to CBU at 690 kilocycles, starting at 9:45 a.m. with a pre-game broadcast.

It's Tough to Figure Which Line to Watch

By The Canadian Press

It gets harder and harder for opposing teams to figure out which of Montreal Canadiens' flying Frenchmen should be tied down.

When the first and second lines are checked, the third line can still score. Detroit Red Wings found that out Thursday as the Canadiens beat them, 4-2, to extend the National Hockey League's longest undefeated streak this season.

Two goals by Phil Goyette and one by Claude Provost were enough to give Montreal its 16th straight game without a loss. Jean Beliveau of the first-line family added a goal which wasn't needed.

Detroit was operating with substitute goalie Gilles Boisvert, normally with Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League, as the illness injury toll sidelined another hockey great, netminder Terry Sawchuk, with leg pains.

ROCKET INJURED

Montreal, already missing Bernie Goffrion sorely, were hurt more severely when Maurice Richard was hit by a flying puck and suffered a broken cheek bone. He'll be out for a month.

Boston lost high-scoring leftwinger John Bucyk last week. The Bruins beat New York 4-3 Thursday night but Bucyk's Uke Line mates missed him.

Toronto, missing nobody, strengthened its grip on third place with a 4-3 see-saw win at Chicago.

Johnny Wilson scored two goals and goalie Johnny Bower stopped 44 potential goals to give the Leafs the victory.

At Detroit, Provost slammed a 10-footer in the first period to give Montreal a lead that Gary Alderson of Detroit erased a little later.

Goyette made it 2-1 but the Wings drew even when Norm Ullman clicked on a power play, poking in Alex Delvecchio's rebound.

The winner came when Goyette expertly picked Provost's rebound off the boards and smashed a 15-foot shot.

WARRIORS SELL ZEMRAU TO CHICAGO

WINNIPEG (CP)—Defenceman Ed Zemrau has been sold to Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League and will report today to Sault Ste. Marie of the Eastern Professional Hockey League, Winnipeg Warriors announced today.

General manager Jack Perrin of the Western Hockey League club said the Warriors had been carrying five defencemen and Zemrau was sold in a roster-cutting move.

He was in his second year with the club.

Rookie Goalie Sunk in Debut

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Payment wasn't enough here Thursday as Kamloops defeated Chilliwack, 8-4, in a Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey League game before 800 fans.

Chilliwack's new goalie, 18-year-old Gerry Payment, stopped 21 shots while allowing eight to slip by. Playing his first senior game after taking a step up from the New Westminster junior, he played a superb game, but couldn't hold off the interior team's determined attack.

Totems Resting As Cats Work

Seattle Totems, who will be battling Victoria Cougars for second place in the Western Hockey League race at Memorial Arena Saturday night, will be well rested for their clash with the Cats.

Totems, tied with the Cougars in the runner-up spot, made their last start Tuesday night. Cougars played to a 1-1 tie with Canucks Wednesday night and tackle the league-leaders again at Vancouver Forum tonight.

In Thursday night's WHL action, Ernie Wakely, 18-year-old goaltender from Winnipeg Warriors' junior farm club, helped the Warriors out of last place. He fought off a last-period rally by Spokane Comets as Winnipeg picked up an 8-4 victory.

STOPPED 21 SHOTS

Wakely, filling in for regular goalie Al Rollins who is on the sidelines with an infected foot, turned aside 21 shots, 10 of them as Spokane pressed in the third period. The loss left Comets in last place, two points behind Winnipeg. The teams were tied for the bottom spot going into the game.

Ray Brunel, with a goal and two assists, led Warriors' scoring. Other goals went to Barry Ross, Dick Lamoureux, Gordie Redahl, Gerry Brissoun, Elliot Chorley, Steve Wituk and Gerry Bergman.

PLAYERS TANGLE

Wakely shut out Spokane for two periods. Max Mekilok put Comets on the scoreboard with two third-period goals.

Ching and Al Johnson added two more for Spokane before the game ended.

A fight broke out between Bergman and Eddie Stankiewicz of Spokane and it took both linesmen and several players to separate them. Each was tagged with a major penalty.

Spokane plays at Edmonton tonight.

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Dust and data that comes from shaking spikes; International fame comes to Gorge Vale and professional Joe Pryke next week. Joe is featured in Sports Illustrated's "Tip From the Top" series in the Nov. 30 issue.

He's the second Victoria pro to be so honored. Former Oak Bay pro Phil Taylor provided his tip a few years back.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard, waxing enthusiastic over Australian hospitality, returned home from the Canada Cup tournament Wednesday night. Reporters thumping through a pile of Melbourne newspapers came across this paragraph: "So now there will be a sudden-death playoff between Peter Thomson and Stan Leonard of Canada, who has become the most popular golfer ever to visit Australia."

Leonard grinned when it was read to him. "I would be lying if I said I wasn't happy about what that fellow said," Leonard remarked. "Of all the nice things that happened, that bit was the nicest."

Bob Woods and Jack Storrer are the new holders of the Clarke Trophy at Gorge Vale. A field of 44 contested the fourball event last weekend under the most trying conditions possible.

Woods and Storrer, who scored a net 68½, nosed out Ed Brady and Wally Stewart by three-quarters of a stroke. Johnny Merriman and Hugh Fletcher captured low gross honors with a 70, most commendable, considering the circumstances.

SHORT CHIPS: Picture of the month came in from Oak Bay earlier this week. . . It showed pro Laurie Carroll shaking his head sadly as pneumonia hunters Ron MacLeod, Doc Bigelow, Jack Lowe and Fred Ranson moved off the first tee to start a round in the wind and rain. . . # Marshall Defeats Stone; Taylor, Gutoski Ousted VANCOUVER (CP)—The Totem bonspiel comes down to the wire tonight assured that no one rink will take it all as Reg Stone's foursome from Trail, B.C., did a year ago.

The last of the undefeated rinks—Jack Arnet's youthful crew from the University of British Columbia—fell Thursday night, leaving no one with a chance to win both primary events and tightening the grand aggregate race.

Barry Naimark, with the Vancouver club rink that won the B.C. title last year, not only saw his undefeated string broken Thursday but was bounced right out of the bonspiel as he dropped two straight matches.

Roy Vinthers, a Vancouver veteran, shot into the aggregate lead with a double victory Thursday for a 10-1 record, just ahead of Arnet's 9-1 mark. Charlie Cook of Vancouver, a former primary winner here and the man who ended Arnet's winning string at nine games, is third in line with an 8-1 mark.

Vinthers and Arnet could determine the aggregate race when they meet today in the semifinals of the Evergreen primary. Cook meets Sam Gould from Princeton, B.C., in the semifinals of the Totem primary.

Other semifinalists in the Totem are Arden Brown of Vancouver, who whipped Naimark 9-4 and Dean Hayes of Haney, B.C., a 9-5 winner over Victoria's Gar Taylor.

In the Evergreen, the other semifinalists are Fred Tinning of Vancouver, whose 12-7 victory over Naimark shunted the B.C. champion to the sidelines Thursday night, and Larry Marshall of Victoria, upset 8-6 winner over Stone.

Stone's defeat, on a ninth-end four scored by Marshall and on a shot that tipped a Marshall rock behind two Stone counters and into shot position on the last end, knocked the six-time B.C. champion from the primary competitions.

Last year Stone won 11 straight matches to win both primaries and the aggregate. His loss to Marshall also just about ended his aggregate chances, leaving him at 9-2.

The Marshall rink is the only Victoria entry still in the running.

In addition to his loss to Hayes, Taylor was also bounced out of the Dogwood event, losing 15-3 to Brown.

Tony Gutoski bowed out in the 16s of the Seymour event, dropping a 7-6 decision to New Westminster's Stan Craig.

Longhorns Needed Rally To Wrap Up Bowl Berth

By Associated Press
Texas, Virginia Military Institute, Pennsylvania and—most of all North Carolina—scored the big victories Thursday as Thanksgiving Day football games decided entries for two major post-season bowl games and the champions of two major conferences.

Texas, trailing until the final quarter, pulled out a 20-17 decision over Texas A and M and earned a share of the Southwest Conference title and host spot in the Cotton Bowl game. Penn, likewise a trailer, overcame its ancient rival Cornell 28-13 to win the Ivy League championship and VMI whipped Virginia Tech 37-12 in a head-on clash for the Southern Conference championship.

North Carolina, its title aspirations long since blunted, handed Duke its worst beating ever in their backyard battle—50-0—and moved into second place behind Clemson in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

POSSIBLE TIE
The Southwest Conference race won't end until Saturday, when Texas Christian gets its shot at a tie for first place, but the Texas victory Thursday made sure the Longhorns will play Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl and Arkansas will go to the Gator Bowl. Each finished with 5-1 conference records, a mark TCU can equal by beating Southern Methodist Saturday. But in the case of ties, the team away from the Cotton Bowl the longest gets the bid.

In anticipation, Arkansas had conditionally accepted the Gator Bowl invitation and TCU had agreed to play in the Dec. 19 Bluebonnet Bowl.

LONDON (Reuters)—Results of Thursday's Rugby Union county championship games:
Leicester 1, North Midlands 3.
Warwickshire 27, East Midlands 9.

In other holiday games, Wichita tumbled Tulsa 26-21 and cost the Oklahomans a chance to tie the North Texas State and Houston for the Missouri Valley title; Wyoming's Skyline champions routed

Denver 45-0; Colgate upset Ivy League Brown 33-14; Richmond—downed William and Mary 20-12 in a Southern Conference game and Washington State outscored Houston 32-18 in an intersectional tussle.

DIRECTOR QUILTS

WALSALL, England (CP)—The board of directors of the Walsall Football Club may be forced to reach its decisions by standing vote. The directors have no place to sit.
Last week, Ernest Hawley resigned from the board of the club, which leads the English

Thursday, the surviving directors walked into the board room and discovered the table that had been pounded was now impounded.
So were their leather-bound chairs and the fitted carpet. "I thought we'd had the balliffs in," said the chairman, Ernest Thomas.

It turned out, that Hawley, who had bought the furniture, had reclaimed his property. Thomas suddenly remembered that in the heat of argument he had told Hawley he could have it back.

"Because of the chairman's attitude towards me I had no alternative but to remove it," Hawley explained.
"I never thought he'd go through with it," said Thomas, hastily canvassing the board for the price of some new furniture.

Green Bay Slides Past Butter-Fingered Lions

DETROIT (AP)—The Green Bay Packers cashed in on a rash of early mistakes, then hung on grimly for a 24-17 triumph over the Detroit Lions in a National Football League contest watched by 49,221 chilled spectators and a national television audience Thursday.

Quarterback Bart Starr's passing, rookie Boyd Dowler's receiving and Paul Hornung's running got the in-an-out Packers off to a 24-3 lead. Neither team scored in the dull second half.

The Lions, sputtering to their seventh defeat, fumbled away the ball three times in the first half and each time the Packers grabbed off some points.

Starr, who got into the line-up a few weeks ago when Lamar McHan was hurt—and now won't let McHan have his old job back—fired off eight completions in 11 passes in the first half and Detroit never recovered.

Thursday's victory was the second this season over Detroit and marked the first time in a dozen years the Packers have swept the season series.

WORLD'S TOP ATOM-SMASHER IN FULL SWING

GENEVA (AP)—The world's biggest atom-smasher achieved its full power for the first time Tuesday night, the European Organization for Nuclear Research said Wednesday.

The huge circular machine, more than 640 feet in diameter, reached its designed energy of 24,000,000,000 electron volts more than one year ahead of schedule.

Known as a proton-synchrotron, it was built at a cost of some $30,000,000 contributed by the organization's 12 member nations.

Natural Fluorine In City's Water

'Infinitesimal' Amount—Scurrah, But No Alum, Mooney Tells Council

Greater Victoria water has an "infinitesimal" amount of natural fluorine, some ammonia along with chlorine but no alum, city council was told Thursday.

The information was brought out after Ald. M. H. Mooney said there were "stories being spread around the city" that the water contained alum.

He said he had taken pains to find out the truth and there was no alum in the water.

Ald. Geoffrey Elgelow then asked if there was any natural fluorine in the water. Mayor Percy Scurrah, chairman of the water board, said there was a small amount.

"So small they can't find it in tests," said Ald. Mooney.

Mayor Scurrah agreed that the amount was "infinitesimal".

NO OTHERS Ald. Elmer McEwen asked the mayor if any other chemicals besides chlorine were added to the water. The mayor said no.

But city engineer James Garnett said the process for dissolving the chlorine used ammonia as a catalyst. This, however, does not affect the water in any way, he added.

The questions followed filing of a letter requested by the council from the British Columbia division of the Canadian Medical Association for its observations on fluoridation.

The letter said there is no such thing as pure water. The chemical composition of safe

Rat Attacks Child By Parents' Bedside

MONTREAL (CP)—An 18-month-old boy was treated in hospital Thursday after being savagely bitten on the face and hand by a rat while he slept in a crib beside his parents' bed.

Young Richard Cantwell was treated at Montreal Children's Hospital and then allowed to go home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cantwell. He had three bites on his right hand and three over his right eye.

The Cantwells were awakened early Thursday morning by their baby's screams.

"As we looked into the crib," Mr. Cantwell said, "we saw a black rat, about eight inches long, jump to the floor and run out of the room."

The Cantwell $38-a-month apartment is in a depressed area of Montreal, commonly known as "Goose Village," an area near the slaughterhouses.

Victims of Polio On the Mend Here

Eleven victims of polio from Victoria and Island points are all progressing favorably under treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital and Queen Alexandra Solarium.

They are two adults and nine children. Four of the youngsters are at the Solarium.

Barry Evans, seven, of Kokilah, and W. Hackwell, 30, of Alberni, are still in respirators at Jubilee, and John Lowery, five, of Alberni, and Robin Erickson, six, of Lake Cowichan, are in isolation but in good condition.

The Solarium patients include a brother and sister, Rodney Roberts, seven, and Gail, three, both of Nanaimo, who are taking physiotherapy and are "satisfactory."

The others are Larry Johnson, two, of Ladysmith, also taking physiotherapy, and Greta Stellaard, five, Port Alberni, both listed as "satisfactory."

Cynthia Fry, five, of Victoria, and Jo Ann Jansen, four, of Victoria, are both "good" in Jubilee children's ward.

Clayton Gieslen, 28, of Nanaimo, is also in good condition at Jubilee.

A hospital spokesman said 14 patients were treated at Jubilee, three of whom died early in the outbreak.

Child Dies in Fire

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A pre-dawn fire raged through the upper floors of a downtown apartment building today, killing a child. Fourteen other persons were injured, one critically. The flames burnt the top two floors of the four-storey building. Two of the injured were hurt jumping from windows to escape flames.

1,800 'Raps' Faced By Montreal Convict

MONTREAL (CP)—Arthur Richard Whitehead, a 29-year-old prisoner at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, claimed in court Thursday there are about 1,800 criminal charges pending against him in various parts of Canada.

Whitehead, sentenced earlier this year on several charges, was brought into court to ask if he wished to plead guilty to 10 forgery and fraud charges pending against him in Vancouver.

"It was not my idea to come here today and I certainly do not intend to plead guilty to any charges," Whitehead told Judge T. A. Fontaine. "There are 1,800 charges against me all over Canada."

He did not detail the charges. Told that he must have consented to plead guilty to the British Columbia charges or he would not have been brought into court, Whitehead said:

"There must have been some mistake because that was not my intention and it is not now . . ."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

In there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other interesting prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Carol Burkhardt, age 14, of Muncy, Penna., for the question:

How do termites multiply?

Termites are social insects, living in colonies somewhat like ants and honeybees. Though called white ants, they are not ants at all. The termite worker, about a quarter-inch long, is pasty white and quite blind. Her head is one-third of her body and she does not have the ant's neat waist. Her life story is also very different from that of an ant.

Both, being insects, start out as eggs. The ant egg hatches into a hungry pupa which later goes to sleep in a cocoon and finally wakes up as a grown-up ant. The termite egg hatches into a tiny termite called a nymph. It eats and eats, fed by the grown-up worker termites. From time to time it sheds its skin for a bigger one. It takes the little termite about two years to grow up, during which time it goes through six changes.

All the ant eggs and all the termite eggs for a nest are laid by a queen mother. The ant queen mother is alone in her royal office. The termite queen mother shares her royal status with his majesty the king. She is a massive, flabby creature, sometimes four inches long. Her body may contain 75,000 eggs and certain termite queens lay an egg a second, day and night, for 10 years. Naturally, a queen termite has time for nothing else and all her needs are attended to by the workers.

Mis majesty the king is maybe half an inch long and more gayly dressed than the humdrum members of the nest. His head and shoulders may be glossy, black, his chest banded with black and white and his abdomen may be golden yellow. However, the blind termites never see this royal splendor. There are also a number of adult males and females in the nest and they too belong to the royal caste.

New Monarchs Standing By

If the king or queen dies, a new king or queen is drawn from their ranks to take over the reproduction of the nest. Some of the royal princelings are winged adults and females. Once a year, they pair off and fly away to build nests of their own. When settled, the young king and queen run off their wings and the queen begins to lay her eggs.

Most of the eggs will be come wingless workers, unable to produce eggs of their own. They supply food for the nest, tend the eggs and the queen. The eggs are taken from the queen to a hatchery chamber. Certain termites keep the hatchery warm with piles of decaying vegetation. The food of the termites, as every one knows, is wood. The worker termites devour it, eating out tunnels as they go, and digest the tough woody fibres with the help of tiny one-celled animals which live in their digestive tracts. The royal caste, however, cannot digest wood and they are given food which has been partly digested by the workers. Some of the eggs develop into soldier termites, for there is always an army to defend the nest. The soldiers have great jaws and some have helmets. They are about the same size as the workers and like them they are blind and unable to lay eggs. They are fed on woody fibres gathered by the workers.

TOO MUCH PSYCHOLOGY

Teeth Taken Out Of Juvenile Laws

VERNON (CP)—A Vernon magistrate says society has gone too far in its use of child psychology on juvenile offenders. The result has "taken the teeth out of the law."

Magistrate Frank Smith called for an immediate revision of the laws and freedom of the courts to retreat from extreme leniency to a more realistic attitude on what is just punishment.

The ultimate solution to crime "is an awakening of the conscience to the true values of life," he told the Vernon Council of Women Wednesday.

Organized sport as an answer is "non-effective" because it attracts only the normal child who does not need it, he said.

"Some years ago the laws were ruthless to the extent of drawing public protest. In its efforts to correct this situation, society has gone to the opposite extreme and taken the teeth out of the law."

He believed corporal punishment in the home, school and courts was a means of correcting wayward juveniles.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Here's a little warning to people thinking of sending their children out into the popular song business nowadays...

Don't. A good-looking young singer with a wife and 19-months-old son has just told how the disc jockey payola boys drained him and his family of $5,000—then threatened his life for going to District Attorney Hogan.

"They keep calling and saying, 'You stool pigeon! You'll get taken care of!'" said Don Anthony, 31, at his home in the Bronx.

"It was blood money," added Don, whose record of "Careless" is a hit, who even has his own small recording company. "Everywhere I went—Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago—they said, 'It's gonna cost you. Go to your people and get the money.'"

"I handed out $1,800 in one day in Philadelphia. The distributor there said, 'These boys are real pigs. But they can break the record for you.' I paid them—and then they didn't play the record."

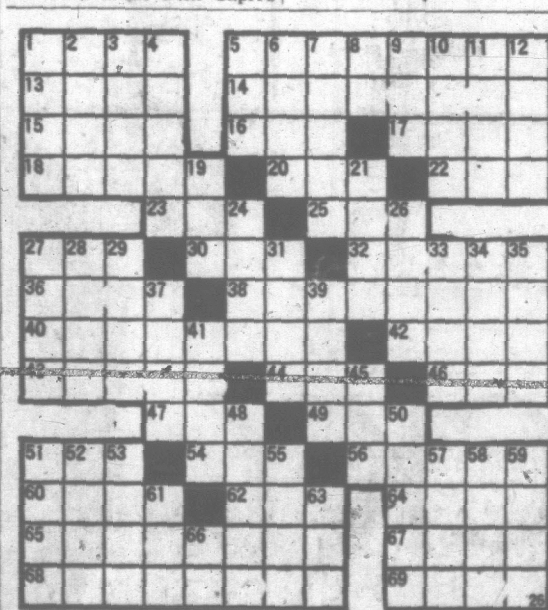

"I thought about my wife Gloria and little Joey needing the money."

Don would subway home up to the Gunn Hill Rd. section, and determine to be bled no more. But then at the tiny office of his Barbizon Records, 1599 B'way, he'd re-read a letter from J. Arthur Rank Records International asking to distribute his record in Europe. Over at the Lamb's they slapped him on the back.

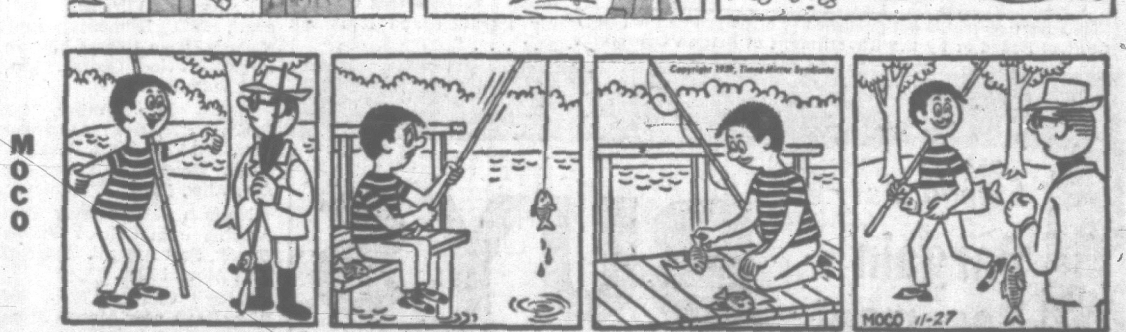

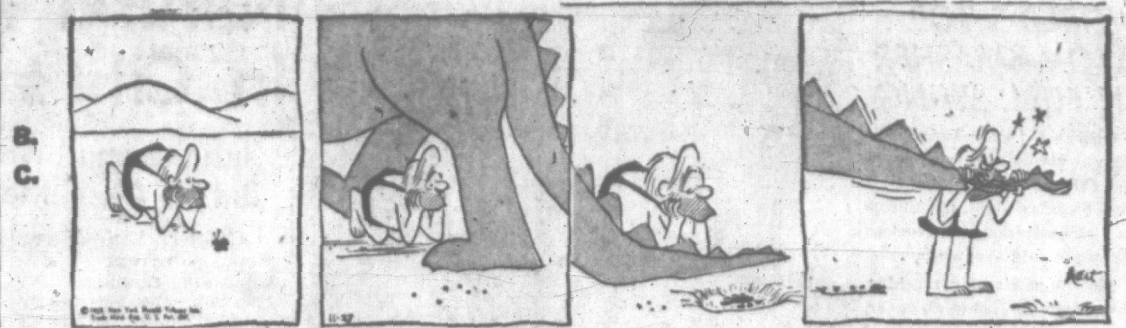

"They didn't know I was broke," Dan said. "I was on 150 shows all over the country—and never got paid once. Often there was a union man there saying it was O.K."

"I'd say 'Gee, I got a little baby. I could use the money.' They said, 'Just go on and keep quiet.'"

U.S. Kiwanians To Visit Duncan

(From Duncan Bureau)

DUNCAN—Kiwanis Club executives and members of Vancouver Island, Port Townsend and Port Angeles clubs will meet here Sunday for their fall conference.

Lieutenant-governor-elect Dr. G. F. "Punch" Gernsey of Courtenay will instruct 1960 incoming club executives on the Kiwanis objectives for the coming year.

Members of the local club will meet the U.S. visitors at the Victoria airport at 9 a.m. Sunday.

LAKE COWICHAN—G. K. Dalman has been elected president of Lake Cowichan Branch 210, Canadian Legion. Other officers are R. J. Unwin and R. E. Weismiller, vice-presidents; D. A. Berry, secretary; Richard Hurst, treasurer; C. A. Sunnus, sergeant-at-arms.

Trustees are John Loewen, I. W. Rush and Art Peterson.

LAKE COWICHAN — The Kinsmen Club has purchased a pair of orthopaedic shoes for a patient at Queen Alexandra Solarium in Victoria.

The club is planning to hold a Salk vaccine clinic next February.

CHEMAINUS—The Rotary Club will hold its annual ladies' night at Manana Lodge, Ladysmith, Dec. 5.

The club has received a cheque for $300 from the municipality of North Cowichan as its share of the cost of the new restroom facilities constructed by the club at Fuller's Lake.

NANAIMO—A job placement bureau for persons who have recovered from mental illness is being organized in B.C., James D. Ward, executive director of the Canadian Mental Health Association in B.C., told the Nanaimo branch Wednesday.

He said former mental patients "are no greater job risk than anybody else." The association will soon ask all employers in the province to list jobs available to such persons, he said.

NANAIMO—City council, chamber of commerce, and the fishermen's union are represented on a committee here which will press for an $800,000 boat basin development for commercial craft at the mouth of Millstone River.

An earlier boat basin plan, suggested for the use of both commercial and pleasure craft, was rejected by the federal government because of the tourist-commercial connection.

NANAIMO — A $130,000 drive-in cafe and service station development here is expected to employ more than 200 construction workers for three months and will boost winter employment.

NANAIMO — Officers elected at the annual meeting of the Nanaimo Agricultural Society were: president, Nick Taylor; president, Norman Strickland; vice-president, Nick Williams, secretary, and Dr. John Strickland, treasurer.

PORT ALBERNI—Work has begun between 10th and 11th Avenues on Chiga Creek Road on a $160,000 super-market to serve the southeast portion of the city.

Contractor is Southern Construction Co. Ltd. of Port Alberni. A $130,000 concrete block building and $30,000 parking lot are scheduled for completion late in March.

Annual meeting and election of officers of North and South Saanich Agricultural Society will be held tonight at 8 in the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton.

ISLAND DIGEST

18 Victoria Daily Times
FRI, NOV. 27, 1959

PARK ALREADY DEDICATED TO VC WINNER

DUNCAN—A park two or three miles east of Cowichan Lake was dedicated to the memory of Major Charles F. Hoey, VC, by the city of Duncan and provincial government in 1945, according to ex-mayor James C. Wragg.

Cowichan Community Arts Council recently recommended to city council that some memorial be made to Major Hoey, only Victoria Cross winner from this area in the Second World War, who was killed in Burma in 1944.

A service club, with the help of the provincial government, might develop the park as a camping site, Mr. Wragg said. The land is believed to have frontage on Cowichan River.

Other recognition of Major Hoey by city council in 1945 included making a presentation to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson Hoey, now of Victoria, and putting a plaque in the old city hall.

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Forest Service

COWICHAN LEADER

The future of North Cowichan's forest reserve, founded by ex-regent D. D. Chapman, will be among duties facing the 1960 council.

Apart from possible attractive offers, the council would do well to keep in mind two principles: sale of merchantable trees now to the highest bidder and the general goal of private ownership of as much municipal land as possible.

The alternative to single ownership of forest reserve would be multiple ownership, through division of the reserve into many available smaller tree farms to be developed singly by their owners, who would buy the land outright from the municipality. Sale of such lands could take place to large companies at a later date if private companies considered it worth their while and the small owners wished to sell.

Land inaccessible a few years ago can now be reached fairly easily by modern road machinery. This fact will do much to encourage the transfer of municipal land to private ownership in the future. Homes on the slopes of Mt. Prevost, Maple Mountain and Mt. Richards are no longer in the class of pipe dreams and might become quite desirable within 20 years.

Highway Speed

SIDNEY REVIEW — Chief of Police Brownlee of Central Saanich recently expressed to the press his opinion of the existing 60 miles per hour speed limit on Patricia Bay Highway. The police officer's considered opinion is that 60 miles is too fast for the highway as it exists today.

We have no intention of taking issue with the view of Chief Brownlee who is a trained traffic officer and who

Nation-Wide Hunt for Missing Pair

(From CP Dispatches)
— NAKUSP — A Canada-wide search is in progress for a Nakusp couple missing from this Arrow Lakes community since July.

RCMP are attempting to locate Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Paul, both about 25, who disappeared from their home at nearby Edgewood early in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul were married in Montana in May and returned here to make their home at Edgewood, where Mr. Paul worked for a lumbering concern.

without advising relatives and friends where they were going.

DRUGS IN BALLOONS

NEW WESTMINSTER — Seizure of a large supply of narcotics which were allegedly to be smuggled to inmates of the B.C. penitentiary here was disclosed Thursday by RCMP in police court.

Foster was committed to higher court for trial.

LABOR CLASH

VANCOUVER — Pat O'Neal, secretary of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, hinted broadly Thursday that the federation is in sympathy with three local officers of the local Ironworkers' Union who face charges laid by the International Union of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers (AFL-CIO-CLC).

O'Neal said last summer's 50-day strike by Ironworkers' Local 97 "had the support and admiration of the trade union movement of this province".

The three officers will answer Monday to charges that

MURDER HEARING OFF

PORT COQUITLAM — Hearing in a murder charge against Garth Robert Allison, 30, was adjourned Thursday until Dec. 4 pending psychiatric examination of the accused.

TEAMSTER ULTIMATUM

ROOF FALLS, BUT NOBODY KNOWS HOW

VERNON (CP)—Everyone concerned knows the roof fell in, but nobody wants to say how.

The collapse occurred Friday as workmen hoisted the roof above an office building.

Building inspector Bert Hanna, who was in the building at the time and is conducting an investigation, says the mayor or city clerk should release the information.

City clerk Ian Garven says he knows nothing of the investigation. He referred questions to the mayor.

Mayor F. F. Becker says Alderman Harold Down should release the information.

But Ald. Down says there isn't information to release.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR IN REGINA

Women Tipple 7 Gallons

REGINA (CP)—Women took their first legal drink on licensed premises in Saskatchewan Thursday and liked it.

In about three hours they drank seven gallons of wine in the two Regina outlets open to them.

Cautious at first, they came in to sip wine and beer in small numbers. At noon, however, they all but outnumbered their male counterparts.

The two Regina outlets, so far the first in the province open for mixed drinking, are the result of a recent plebiscite. Unlike some provinces women don't have to have male escorts to drink. Food, too, is available.

Say the women: "About time." Many think equal drinking privileges have been denied them too long.

And the men? Most don't like the idea of women invading what before was a sole male right. They say it cramps

Students Arrested

TOKYO (AP)—Two Japanese university students were under arrest today in connection with the fatal beating of Dr. Charles E. Perry, an American teacher at St. Paul's University here.

Newspaper reports said one of the youths struck Dr. Perry on the head and face Thursday night after he admonished the pair for throwing rocks at his home and entering the university campus.

their style. They agree, however, that if this is an indication of things to come, licensed premises are going to be much more clean, brighter and congenial.

Officials at both outlets, which only serve wine and beer, say they have noticed a marked change in male behaviour. The men are quieter.

Features are soft lighting, carpeting and soft music in the background. Men are being asked to take off their hats for the first time. Supervisors are on duty to escort customers to tables. There is no formal segregation.

Early Thursday plain-clothes police mingled with customers and sat unobtrusively in the background.

CIGARET CANCER ON THE RISE

Filter No Protection

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. public health service has issued a strong new warning on tobacco: The weight of evidence implicates smoking as the main cause of the rising rate of lung cancer.

The statement was made Thursday by Surgeon-General Leroy E. Burney in an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association. It was the government's strongest statement to date linking smoking and cancer, and Burney said it was based partly on new evidence.

Burney's warning immediately was attacked by tobacco interests as a warmed over rehash of old statistics.

Representative Watkins Abbott (Dem., Va.), who represents a major tobacco growing district, said "It is shocking that a supposedly responsible government official would castigate the entire tobacco industry on such flimsy statistical evidence."

Burney's article said "the public health service believes that the following statements are justified by studies to date:

"1. The weight of evidence at present implicates smoking as the principal etiological causative factor in the increased incidence of lung cancer."

"2. Cigarette smoking particularly is associated with an increased chance of developing lung cancer."

"3. Stopping cigarette smoking even after long exposure is beneficial."

"4. No method of treating tobacco or filtering the smoke has been demonstrated to be effective in materially reducing or eliminating the hazard of lung cancer."

"5. The non-smoker has a lower incidence of lung cancer than the smoker in all controlled studies, whether analyzed in terms of rural areas, urban regions, industrial occupations, or sex."

"6. Persons who have never smoked at all (cigarettes, cigars or pipe) have the best chance of escaping lung cancer."

Burney said recent studies also point to air pollution—from car exhausts, industrial smog and so on—as additional causative factors in rising lung cancer.

NEW JOYS FROM TOYS

MONTE ROBERTS

Far be it from me to interfere with another department of this newspaper.

Especially such a department as the sports department, staffed as it is with sound chaps, good sports all.

But here it is half-past Nov. 27, and the aforesaid department ain't told us who is going to win the Grey Cup.

After all, the Grey Cup is the only East-West summit meeting guaranteed to take place, so we are entitled to know how it is all going to come out in the end.

The sports department refuses to give us the definitive answer, and contents itself with ifs, ands, and buts.

Before it is too late I, personally will give you the winner.

First you must understand that this East-West meeting involves a game known as football, played by gentlemen who are paid large sums of money to clobber each other at each and every opportunity.

The gentlemen who clobber the other gentlemen with the greatest frequency are often declared the winners.

But not always. Occasionally, the more-clobbered team wins over the more-clobbering team, because the team which clobbers more is observed by a third team, consisting of individuals wearing vertically-striped shirts, and known to one and all as the "officials."

With this thought in mind, consider the possibilities of the meeting between East, represented by the Toronto suburb known as Hamilton, and West, represented by the Brandon suburb known as Winnipeg.

Each team (I fearlessly forecast) will have 12 men on the field at each and every given time, except when they have 11 or 13. (This happens when the coach is watching the drum majorettes.)

Basically, though, Hamilton will send out a team of 12, strong, competent men, adequately paid, to meet a team from Winnipeg consisting of 12, strong, competent men, adequately paid.

Therefore, it is easy to reach a firm decision on which team is going to win.

I am wagering rather heavily (.05c) on the outcome of this East-West meeting, and I have no hesitation in urging you to bet with me.

AWOL Pheasant Seen A-plenty But Uncaught

Nearly two weeks after he escaped from the home of Miss Jessie Read at 1672 Pembroke, Cherry showed up today at an apartment block at 1623 Belmont Avenue.

Mrs. Edith Crawford, one of the tenants, notified Miss Read who hurried round with her net and some food.

Cherry was crafty as usual. He wouldn't let Miss Read come near him, but when she was safely out of range he ate up all the corn and bread she gave him.

A while later he disappeared and Miss Read sadly returned home. She has been out every day since Cherry left home last Sunday week.

Shortly after noon, Mrs. J. C. Smith of 3176 Orillia reported seeing a pheasant answering Cherry's description flying over her house in the direction of the Tillicum Outdoor Theatre.

Miss Read has been notified. Meanwhile, it has been suggested she should obtain a wire net coop with a trap door which opens in but not out.

Cherry could then be lured inside with a little corn... or could he?

DENTIST QUILTS AFTER 'ABUSE' FROM JORDON

Dr. P. W. Arkie said Thursday in Nanaimo he resigned as consultant dentist in the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit because he was subjected to "malicious abuse by elected representatives in Island communities."

At the quarterly meeting of the Union Board of Health here he said Mayor Loran Jordan of Port Alberni was "abusive" and M. F. Wise, Lake Cowichan village chairman, was "inconsiderate."

He said Mayor Jordan accused him of owning stock in a fluoride company and in making foolish claims about fluoridation of the water supply.

He said he had driven to Lake Cowichan over icy roads to address the village commission but that Mr. Wise would not allow him to speak because it would be against protocol.

Woman Goes For a Ride During Spat

Mrs. Alma Smith, 46, of 1121 Meares, was taken for a ride Thursday in a most unusual fashion.

She clung to the front of a car driven by David V. Connelly, 7 Alma Place, for eight blocks.

When she eventually fell off at Rupert and Heywood after taxi driver Jim Gorst had stopped the vehicle, she was taken to nearby St. Joseph's Hospital by police ambulance, X-rayed and released.

Connelly went to police headquarters to report the accident.

SHE HUNG ON

Police said the woman approached the car on Government Street near the Empress and tried to get into the vehicle to talk to the driver. Connelly didn't want to talk, so he drove away with Mrs. Smith clinging to the car's bumper.

They went up Government to Superior, east on Superior, along Heywood where they stopped and had an argument.

The car started again with the woman still hanging on to the front. They went down Pendergast, then back along Heywood where the car was stopped by Mr. Gorst.

'Klondyke Night' Proceeds for Junior High Band

S. J. Willis Band Parents' Auxiliary will put on a Klondyke Night at the school on Saturday, Dec. 5, from 7 to 11 p.m. to raise money to support the band's program.

The band won first place at the Waterloo, Ont., Music Festival in 1956.

There will be all kinds of games, home cooking, white elephant stalls, movies, refreshments and door prizes, and the band, conducted by Howard Denike, will give a concert. Tickets are 25 cents each.

VIEW ROYAL STAYS UNDER GOVERNMENT CONTROL

3 to 1 Vote Rejects Incorporation

A flood of nay votes washed out all hope of village incorporation for View Royal Thursday.

The proposal was rejected by a three-to-one margin with the actual count listed as 535 to 186.

A total of 721 persons, out of 1,028, voted in the plebiscite.

The yes vote chalked up a small 25.79 per cent score, far short of the required 60 per cent for passing the measure.

The victorious anti-village group issued this statement:

"It must be understood from the landslide vote that the people of View Royal certainly wish to remain under the supervision of the provincial government.

"The government will certainly think twice next time before it spends any money allowing a few men to try and incorporate any section of Vancouver Island into a village, which could be possible for quite a few years to come."

A. W. Bradfield, who led the drive for incorporation, said:

"Naturally, we are disappointed. But at the same time we are pleased that so many turned out to vote. It was conducted in democratic fashion and now we know for sure what the voters really want."

B.C. to Press 'Radical' Ideas On Rail Rates

Probers Here Early in '60

The British Columbia government will make "totally radical" suggestions to Canada's Royal Commission on Transportation when it sits here early in 1960, Attorney General Robert Bonner said today.

He said his department is "up to its ears" marshalling argument for adoption of a new basis of freight rates—more closely related to the actual cost of service.

The minister said although the cost-of-service basis is now being adopted for freight rate schedules by railways in England and Europe proper, it is a totally radical theory in Canada.

Freight rates at present are based on "what the traffic will bear" plus various statutory subsidies, according to economists.

There is a higher rate for instance for high-value shipments such as machinery than there is for low-value freight such as pig iron. It is also a practice by railways to charge more where there are no competing services, they say.

HIT HARDER

Rail rates have more effect on the B.C. economy than on most other provinces because of the long hauls involved between the west coast and the eastern centres of production.

In earlier talks with federal authorities on freight rates, Mr. Bonner had proposed a diminishing subsidy be paid to national railways which would enable them to modernize their services, thus cutting operational costs and permitting freight rates to decline.

OPENS FEB. 8

The royal commission on transportation opens its western round of hearings at Winnipeg Feb. 8. It recently completed a two-week tour of the maritimes and is to meet Dec. 4 in Ottawa to hear submissions by major railways.

M. A. MacPherson, acting chairman of the commission, said it will continue westward from Winnipeg to Regina, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria. Attorney General Bonner said he has not been informed of the date of the B.C. hearings.

Stamp Collectors Meet

The Victoria Numismatic Society will hold its annual banquet Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Monterey Restaurant.

JAYCEE CONTEST PRIZES

Silver Rose Bowls For Yule Lighting

Silver rose bowls will be presented to winners in four classes of Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce annual Christmas lighting contest this year.

A special award will go to the winner in the fifth classification.

The five classifications are for the best decorated house, or house and garden, best decorated window or door, best novice entry, best depiction of the Christmas message and the best-decorated group of three or more adjacent homes.

Prizes will be awarded for first, second and third in each of the first four classifications and a banquet will be staged for the winners.

Entries must reach the Junior Chamber office in the Black Ball Building by Dec. 15. Entry forms will be mailed on receipt of a phone call to EV 3-4521 on weekday afternoons.

3-Way Race For Mayoralty?

Ex-Alderman Possible 'Sleeper' Candidate

By JOHN MIKA

Is Robert Macmillan going to return to city politics as a dark horse candidate for mayor?

That question has been circulating among campaign observers for days.

It has been denied by Mr. Macmillan, motel and restaurant operator who dropped out of council in 1956 after serving three terms as alderman.

But the heated mayoralty race this year could produce a last-minute entry. It's that kind of campaign.

Asked about the strong rumors that he will jump into the fight, Mr. Macmillan replied:

"Don't be ridiculous, definitely not at the moment. I'm busy."

But Mr. Macmillan has had the time to attend civic election rallies as a spectator and as a mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith twice has pointedly referred to "my friend Bob Macmillan" being in his audience.

'SLEEPER'

Final filip to the mystery is the way Mr. Macmillan concluded his denial that he was a "sleeper" in the campaign.

"I don't think I'll change my mind—but I'll let you know."

If there is a third candidate there will be a three-way split of what is expected to be a record vote, but the odds are that the real battle still will be between Mayor Percy Scourah and Mr. Smith.

But which one would the third split hurt? Although known as a young "maverick" in civic politics, Mr. Macmillan likely would have more appeal for the business vote than Mr. Smith.

This could cut into a part of Mayor Scourah's support more heavily than into Mr. Smith's balliwick.

Location Change, Increased Power Asked by CHEK

An application has been made to the Broadcast Board of Governors at Ottawa requesting permission to change the location of CHEK-TV's transmitter to Saturna Island in the Strait of Georgia, station president-owner David M. Armstrong announced today.

The application also asked permission to boost the station's power from 1800 watts to the maximum 100,000 watts.

The application is expected to be brought before the board when it meets on Jan. 18.

Mr. Armstrong's efforts to move the transmitter to another site will be welcomed whose Channel 5 reception is interfered with by the strong signal from the local channel.

"Basically," Mr. Armstrong said, "the change in transmission locale should do away with the present interference problems."

ROBERT MACMILLAN
... I'll let you know.

Highway Route Being Weighed

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi will confer soon with logging operators on Northern Vancouver Island on a proposed route for a new highway connecting Kelsey Bay with Port Hardy, it was learned today.

The logging firms will be shown a route, already roughed out by the highways department, and utilizing many private logging company roads. The companies will be asked to co-operate in permitting public usage of roads running along the north-east section of the Island.

FILL GAP

The minister expects to be able to call tenders, probably this winter, for construction work in the spring, which would fill in the gaps between the existing roads.

He told the Times: "It is planned to use as many of the present roads in the area as possible."

At some later time "further construction would be undertaken to straighten and relocate the route, but our first aim must be to get some proper access" for people living or wishing to settle in the northern end of the Island.

Earlier Premier Bennett announced he had established a committee of the highways minister, Recreation Minister Earle C. Westwood and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Wiliston. He said the committee would endeavor to advance planning for northern island development in the fields of power, industry and road construction.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have been asked to take to recover the money from a Montreal firm which will not ship the goods paid for and ignores to make the refund?—G. P.

A. Write the Better Business Bureau, University Towers, Montreal, and explain the situation. They will investigate and advise.

Q. With all the talk about civil defence in Canada, how, briefly, does it work in Great Britain?—A. A.

A. CD planning in Great Britain is the responsibility of a number of ministries, each of whom undertakes duties which, in wartime, would represent a natural extension of peacetime functions. The CD Corps now comprises 250,405 volunteers and the Industrial CD Corps 200,822 volunteers, plus 50,000 in the auxiliary fire service.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

For full and complete answers, The Times does not undertake to solve complicated or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

By PENNY SAVER

Thrifty housewives are buying their Christmas turkeys now! Birds I saw are all fresh, killed since Thanksgiving, and are a good buy at 39 cents a pound for birds 20 pounds or over, 49 cents for 10 to 16 pound birds and 55 cents for eight to 10 pound turkeys. Butcher assures me that they'll keep perfectly in a deep freezer or freezing section of your refrigerator.

Thrifty was very much on my mind as I eyed fresh-caught herrings in fish section. These were selling at 15 cents a pound. Lady customer, hailing from England, must have seen the look in my eye for she gave me the following English recipe for soured herring:

For a family of four two pounds of herring will provide an inexpensive and appetizing meal cooked in this manner. Wash fish, cut off heads and de-scale. No need to remove bones. These come away easily after baking. Place in a pan with mixture of equal parts of vinegar and water.

Add your favorite spices — bay leaves and peppercorns would do the trick — together with some sliced onions. Bake in a slow oven, about 300 degrees, for 1½ hours.

Customer told me that herrings are equally good hot or cold. "They keep well in the frig," she said, "I like to serve them cold as a snack. They're delicious with potato salad!"

This is a suggestion that could be an end-of-the-month budget saver!

Another good buy this weekend is corned beef. Same store had this on sale for 19 cents and 25 cents a pound.

Suggestion for weekend roasts are legs of pork, selling for 55 cents a pound. These have had shanks removed — no extra bone to pay for! Pigs' tails would make a good soup dish, simmered slowly. These cost 12 cents a pound.

If your family are lovers of steak and kidney pudding, mixture of meat and kidney can be bought for 49 cents a pound.

What youngsters can resist a heaping plateful of French fries once in a while? Next time you need some golden beef dripping, pick up some at this downtown store. Dripping comes at 15 cents a pound.

Fresh local vegetables are still in good supply. Cabbages are 10 cents a pound, spinach two pounds for 35 cents, small lettuce, two for 25 cents, and carrots sell at two bunches for 19 cents.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The old notion of a social worker as a long-nosed woman in tweedy clothes and flat-heeled shoes is fast disappearing from the public mind, says Joy Maines, executive secretary of the Canadian Association of Social Workers.

"The image is changing as the standards of the profession change," she said in an interview here.

"Families in the old days didn't want their daughters to become social workers. They had visions of her paddling around in the slums."

"Now standards are improving, and the settings in which the social workers are employed are many and varied. She is no longer a 'Lady Bountiful' visiting the poor."

EARNEST WORKERS

The social workers of the past, unpopular as they may have been, proved the worth of the profession and the need for its services, she said.

"If they had not done a good job, no one would be shouting for social workers now."

There still is a desperate shortage of social workers in all fields in Canada, she said. A committee of the association is studying the problem and is working toward setting minimum training requirements.

Some agencies are so short-staffed that they have to hire people with less than the usual two years' training after a university degree.

Raising salaries might be part of the remedy. "But I think it's important for us to remember that we exist to serve society—salaries are not the whole issue," Miss Maines said.

hetti sauce, combine a can of tomato soup with a tablespoon each of vinegar and instant minced onion, a teaspoon or more of chili powder and a can of chopped ripe olives. Simmer a few minutes, and serve over well-drained hot spaghetti. Pass a bowl of grated Canadian or Parmesan cheese to sprinkle on top.

They're the very latest thing in high heels... steel heels that you can screw on and off in a second. The £4 4s leather court shoes in the picture have two sets of heels with different color bands, so that they can be changed to tone in with your color scheme. The fashion was introduced recently when English shoe manufacturers held a preview of their 1960 ranges at a London hotel. (Mirrorpic Photo.)

DEAR ABBY...

Chin Up, Mom!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you concerning my daughter. She is 15 years old and in her second year of high school. She is a good girl and has never run around. She is well thought of in school and plays in the band. She has been going with a boy, who is also 15, for about a year. She told me last night that she is two months pregnant. This boy is too young to get married and too young to work. I am a widow with other children and don't know where to turn for help. Please tell me what to do.

HEART-BROKEN MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: First you must meet with the parents of this boy. These children are very young to assume the responsibilities of parenthood. Does your daughter want to marry the boy? Is it her intention to keep the baby or does she plan to give it up for adoption? Then, go to your clergyman. He will guide you to the proper agencies whose function it is to work these problems out. This is not the end of the world, Mother. Trust your clergyman to help you find the most practical solution. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I am very disgusted with my husband. He never tells me he loves me unless I ask him and then he says, "I married you, didn't I?" Also, he doesn't want me to sign my name "Mrs. Otto Last name." (Please don't print my last name.) He makes me sign my name "Bertha Last name." When we give a donation he says it is from "Otto Last name and family." What is the matter with him do you suppose? And how should I sign my name?

DEAR BERTHA: Your legal signature is "Bertha Last name." And socially you should be known as "Mrs. Otto Last name." Your husband has "T" trouble. Big "T"—small "you."

DEAR ABBY: My problem seems so hopeless I am almost ashamed to write it. But here goes: I am a 27-year-old man who is normal in every respect but I am so bow-legged it is pitiful. I am not just slightly bow-legged. I have even thought of asking a doctor to break both my legs and to reset them, but I was told it can't be done. I hate to ask girls for dates and swimming is out of the question. Is there any hope for a bow-legged guy who is honest and clean and lonesome?

BOW-LEGGED.

DEAR BOW: Get over the notion that because your legs look like "O" you have to take a backseat to men whose legs look like "11". The most harmful curve is your thinking. Forget it, and every-one else will.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JINNY:

LOUISE DAVIS

ON ETIQUETTE

Thank you notes for condolence:

How soon after a death should thank you notes be written for floral tributes, etc.? And what is the longest time one may wait to send them? I have so many to write after my husband's death that it will take me weeks to take care of them all, even with the help of the family.

Louise Davis answers:

Thank you notes should be written as soon as possible. Somehow, they are easier to write immediately afterwards than waiting until one feels up to it. Procrastination only makes it worse, for the writer must project her grief into it all over again. It is surprising how quickly it can be done if you would put aside two or three hours or more each day. Words, phrases, expressions are simpler to find and therefore the obligation is finished in quicker time. Then rehabilitation from the grief begins. There is no set time limit in getting these notes written, as there are too many things to consider — your health, state of mind, the quantity of notes to be written. They should be done without any more delay than is absolutely necessary. Surely you and your family can get them done within a month.

Christmas Card Signatures: When husband and wife send Christmas cards, should the signature be "Eleanor and George Adams," or vice versa?

Louise Davis answers: It is optional.

TODAY'S RECIPE

COLONIAL FRUIT CAKE BREAD

Is as rich and moist and delectable as it sounds. Served buttered on a pretty plate, it will be a most welcome change from December's endless "happy month" pieces of fruitcake, and a festive way to say Merry Christmas to your tea-time callers.

One cup butter, 2½ cups brown sugar, 4 eggs, 4 cups sifted all purpose flour, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1½ cups chopped dried apricots, 1 cup chopped glacé cherries and pineapple, 2 cups chopped mixed nuts, 1-1½ cups apricot nectar.

Cream butter and sugar until light. Add eggs and beat until very creamy. Sift together flour, spices, salt and soda. Combine chopped fruits and nuts and sprinkle with ½ cup spiced flour. Add apricot nectar alternately with flour to creamed mixture, blending well after each addition. Stir in fruits and nuts. Bake in two buttered 9x5 loaf pans in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 1 hour and 10 minutes. (Makes 2 loaves 9"x5"x4").

Moslem Women Out From the Veil Many Old Prejudices Wiped Out

PARIS (Reuters) — The emancipation of Moslem women is getting under way in North Africa.

More progress has been made in the last 10 years towards freeing women from the age-old prejudices and Moslem religious traditions by which they were bound than in all the centuries past.

One significant indication of the acceptance of this new-found freedom for women, found in North Africa today, is the appearance of more and more Moslem women without the traditional veils which have come to be regarded as symbols of social slavery.

But female emancipation goes deeper than that, at any rate in Tunisia and Morocco, where one of the main reforms concerns the polygamy permitted to Moslem men.

TUNISIAN BOMBHELL

President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia, who has done more for the emancipation of Tunisian women than anyone before in the country's history, dropped a bombshell on Tunisia's centuries of tradition on Aug. 10, 1956, when he banned polygamy.

Regulations governing the marriage status of women, although not as strict as those in Tunisia, also have been introduced in Morocco. Whereas Tunisian law forbids polygamy, Moroccan law merely advises against the practice.

A leading figure in the movement to emancipate women from ancient social customs is Princess Lalla Aicha, the oldest daughter of King Mohammed V of Morocco, who has discarded the traditional veil as a symbol of the new freedom from binding customs.

"Discarding the veil is not important in itself," Princess Lalla Aicha once said. "What counts is that a woman has the right to wear a veil or not as she pleases."

Princess Lalla Aicha has gone even further. She wears two-piece swim suits on the beach and drives her own sports car.

ACTION IN ALGERIA

In Algeria, where the emancipation of Moslem women has moved more slowly than in Tunisia and Morocco, great strides were taken last February when French President Charles de Gaulle signed a decree banning child marriages and granting Moslem women new social rights.

The decree sets the minimum age for marriage at 15 for the bride and 18 for the bridegroom. For the first time, too, the free consent of the bride to the wedding is necessary. Previously, a bride's parents could negotiate her marriage without consulting her.

Divorce also has been made more difficult under the decree. Gone is the traditional method of divorce whereby the husband had only to repeat three times before witnesses the statement: "By Allah, I divorce thee" and the divorce was valid. A marriage now can be dissolved only by a judicial decision.

OES Bazaar

Wedding In Sooke

Pink and white chrysanthemums decorated St. Matthias' Anglican Church for the recent marriage of Sheila Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morrison of Sooke, and Frank Angelo Carosella, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carosella of Milne's Landing. Rev. Angus Cameron officiated at ceremony.

A gown of white lace was worn by the bride. On princess lines, dress was topped with a jacket in fitted style with lily-point sleeves. Gift of the groom, a matching rhinestone necklace and earrings, was worn as jewelry. Her chapel-length veil was caught by a bandeau of tiny white velvet flowers. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

A metallic green silk brocade dress was worn by matron of honor, Mrs. E. A. Ryan. Her hat was of white feathers and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and pink carnations. Best man was E. A. Ryan and usher was Charles Carosella, brother of groom.

Wedding bells and lily of the valley topped a three-tier wedding cake cut by newlyweds at reception in Holyrood House. Table was decorated with white tulle, candles and pink rapture roses. Leslie Kidd, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

Leaving on honeymoon up-Island, bride wore a suit in charcoal gray, white feather hat and black and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Couple will make their home in Victoria.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Offers Advice for Those Whose Feet Have Odor

Q. "How can one prevent an unpleasant odor from the feet? My husband has this trouble and I do, to a lesser degree. This is even noticeable just after bathing."

A. Some people seem to have this tendency more than others. Naturally these folks need to give their feet special care. This means frequent bathing and a change of socks and shoes more often, twice a day if possible. Sometimes Athlete's Foot contributes to this. There is also a disease of the sweat glands which causes this. I suggest that you and your husband see a skin specialist. This can be a real handicap in business and human relationship.

Q. "I am 15 years old and the following are my measurements: bust 36, waist 25 and hips 36 inches. But my problem is my weight. I weigh 130 pounds. Please tell me how much overweight I am. I am 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall."

A. Don't borrow trouble! Your weight is perfect and your measurements also. So often teen-agers wish to look as wan and thin as one of the movie stars. This isn't the right weight for real life. Do not try to lose weight and spoil your looks and your health. Your letter made me feel that you are "spoiling" to do just that.

Q. "I am 13 years old and am having a lot of trouble with my complexion. I have blackheads and blemishes, mostly on my forehead and around my nose. They spoil my appearance. I do not drink pop or eat a lot of candy. Could you tell me what to do?"

A. At your age the oil glands in the skin are very active. You mention the areas where they are most concentrated, the forehead and around the nose. Usually the chin also is affected in this way. Wash your face four times daily with soap and water.

Q. "I am a big boned girl, 13 years old. I am 5 feet 4 1/2 inches tall. My measurements are: bust 35, waist 25, hips 35 inches. I weigh 126 pounds. What should my weight be?"

A. Your measurements are in perfect ratio. Since you are big boned you are probably not much overweight, but you are on the heavy side. Watch your diet a little by leaving off in-between snacks and seconds and taking moderate portions of food.

Q. "Do you think a person who has blackheads should just use cream to cleanse her face or should she use soap and water?"

A. Do not use any cream, just soap and water several times daily.

Be Happy You're Living Today

For the last 20 years of her life, Queen Elizabeth I of England refused to look into a mirror. The queen who had once been tall, elegant and beautiful had lost her teeth and, quite possibly, much of her hair.

She couldn't bear to face the fact of aging in such a cruel way. And she had no true beauty aids. There were crude forms of cosmetics available, of course. They were called "paint" and they looked fine as long as your skin lasted. But since they ate away the skin, this usually wasn't very long.

There was a whitener for teeth which removed the enamel as it whitened. So little was known about hair care that both men and women became bald rather early and everybody wore wigs as a matter of course.

It was a brilliant age of discovery and adventure but it was not one in which aging could be staved off or even made pleasant. The queen owned a fortune in jewels and gowns but she had not one of the wonderful creams and cosmetics available to women today.

EXTRA CARE

When you're in your teens, a date with The Boy can be terrifying. You're worried about your hair, your dress, your make-up. The best thing to do is go through a sort of dress rehearsal before the big night.

A couple of days before the date, have your hair done or do it yourself. This is to avoid a "set" look and to make you feel less self-conscious. Try on your dress. Sit in it and stand in it to make sure that it is perfectly comfortable. You will feel much more at ease the night of your date if you are used to the dress you are wearing.

And experiment with your make-up. You need very little so avoid the heavy hand. Plastering your face with lots of make-up won't get you any compliments from people who count. Powder and lipstick will do the trick and mix to the eye makeup. That comes along when you're in your 20s.

Squeezing blackheads is a dandy way to get a skin infection. Besides, it is ineffectual.

The best way to dislodge those oily deposits is to use a medicated cream intended for this purpose. There are a number of good ones on the market. After you remove the cream, apply an astringent.

You may have to repeat the treatment for several weeks before you see results. But the treatment takes only 15 minutes.

African Quads Born

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP)—Quadruplets—three boys and a girl—were born this week to Mrs. Nozoline Marasi, 30, an African woman who lives near Umtata in the Transkeian territories. One boy died after a day. The others are doing well.

Japanese Detectives Play Roles of Modern Cupids

TOKYO (Reuters)—Private detectives now play a big role in helping young Japanese women make up their minds about the men they think they might like to marry.

For about 5,000 yen ($14) a woman can find out if her man has had many love affairs, is a heavy drinker, has a good income, is healthy, had a good family background and is free from mental illnesses.

Anything else she might like to know is investigated, recorded and included in a report handed to her after a week or two.

Japan's custom of arranging marriages through parents was affected—though not abolished—when women gained greater freedom after the Second World War.

Now theoretically free to choose their own husbands, most women want to know just exactly who they are marrying.

PARENTS ALSO INQUIRE Hiroshi Horose, president of a Tokyo private detective agency, says young women of about 25 usually make their own inquiries into a man's background while parents with daughters of about 20 to 22 make inquiries on their behalf.

Hirose says most women list a man's past love affairs as the most important piece of information they want to know. Education also is important and university graduates are popular.

The greater freedom given Japanese women since the war also has led the prospective husband to make inquiries into the past of the woman he hopes to marry.

Hirose says men show more anxiety about a girl's romantic past than the girls do in men, but men rarely ask as many questions as the women. Their main worry is whether the woman is healthy.

Sanctuary Asked For Negro Woman From S. Africa

LONDON (Reuters)—The Labor party demanded Wednesday that Britain give sanctuary to a Negro woman trade union official who fled from South Africa.

The demand came in a statement by the Labor party national executive which protested against the action of South Africa in banishing Mrs. Elizabeth Mafekeng, mother of 11 children, from her home in Paarl to a remote region.

Mrs. Mafekeng fled from South Africa ahead of the authorities and sought asylum in British-protected Basutoland. African riots hit Paarl after she fled.

Heirloom Pearl Brooch Worn By Bride Caroline Bigmore

An heirloom brooch in shape of half moon and studded with pearls was jewelry worn by Miss Caroline Adele Bigmore for her marriage recently in St. Martin's-in-the-Field Anglican Church. Brooch was given to the bride by groom's grandmother. Groom is John Michael Kolb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kolb of Parkview Drive, and the bride is daughter of Mrs. R. P. Greaves, Kings Road, and the late Harry Bigmore.

Canon S. J. Wickens officiated. Miss Amy Heath sang "The Wedding Prayer."

LOVELY GOWN

Bride was given in marriage by James A. Forrest. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace and net, fashioned with a sabrina neckline and fitted bodice. Floor-length skirt was posed over hoops and had a chapel train. Her oval net veil was held by a crown of seed pearls and crystal. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a cascade of red roses.

Mrs. Dennis Purcell, matron of honor, wore a princess line dress in seafoam green. Her leather headdress and accessories were in tone and she carried a bouquet of bronze and white chrysanthemums. Miss Margaret Bigmore was in a similar gown in coral tone.

Her bouquet was of chrysanthemums.

Best man was Dennis Purcell and ushers were Vern Berland and Douglas West.

Newlyweds cut a three-tier cake at a reception in Holyrood House. It centred a bridal table covered with a lace cloth, and decorated with bowls of red roses and white candles. Canon Wickens proposed the toast. George Fairfield's orchestra played for dancing.

For a wedding trip to states of Washington and Oregon, the new Mrs. Kolb donned a Persian blue princess style dress. Her coat and accessories were in black and she had a corsage of roses.

Couple will make their home in Alberni.

PAYOLA POPS
It's Death For Those Crazy Beats
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Eandleader Teddy Phillips said today the investigation of disk jockey payolas would mean "the death — permanent — of rock and roll music and all those other crazy beats."
Phillips, who also composes ballads and popular music, said disk jockeys now are afraid to take money to play the rock and roll music.
He said composers of "good music" will benefit.
He also said he believes the investigations will bring back the music of Tin Pan Alley, greats like Irving Berlin and Cole Porter.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Robbins, a native of Baltimore, was scheduled to take over today the six-day-a-week American Broadcasting Co. disk jockey program for teenagers formerly conducted by Alan Freed. Freed was fired last week following a grand jury investigation of the payola racket.

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Four Norfolk disk jockeys who were suspended for playing the Turkish novelty tune "Pachalafaka" 320 times in one day were back at their jobs today.
The four were reinstated by radio station WCMS general manager Roy Lamere when he learned they played the tune to ridicule the belief that any record can become successful if it is played often enough. He said he had suspended them in a moment of confusion "with all this payola talk."

Rotodynes For Helibus Run in U.K.
LONDON (CP)—Aviation Minister Duncan Sandys has agreed to spend £1,400,000 on terminal facilities for an inter-city helibus service using Fairey Rotodyne airliners.
The service will be operated by British European Airways, but an official said Thursday it will be five or six years before "we get the type of Rotodyne we want."
BEA meanwhile will begin its first helicopter passenger service between Penzance and the Scilly Isles, off Cornwall, some time in 1961. Conventional helicopters will be used.
The type of rotodyne sought by BEA will seat 65 passengers and will have more powerful engines than the existing aircraft.

The first firm order for the plane was received last year from Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. of Vancouver, which wants one. Since then the RAF said it may buy 24.
Canadian factory shipments of bicycles, tricycles and parts were valued at $6,625,000 in 1958.

ST. LUKE'S PLAYERS LAUNCH SEASON

Comedy Proves Hilarious
BY AUDREY JOHNSON
"For Pete's Sake," by Leslie Sands
Doris — Margaret Kirkwood
Jeff — Gordon Courtenay
Katie Bishop — Margaret Martin
Mildred Price — Evanne Murray
Charlie — Harry Luky
Pete Mitchell — Alec Hutchins
Kim — Sheila Brown
Bert — John Brown
In a St. Luke's Parish Hall, greatly improved in essentials by recent additions, St. Luke's Players, Thursday night presented the first of three performances of this hilarious comedy.
It's a light-weight piece with pretty trite situations but well written with some really witty innuendoes scattered about.
On the whole it was well played by a veteran cast and directed with a good comedy touch by Dorothea House. Opening night's fair-sized audience rewarded the effort with frequent applause and much good belly-laughter.
Generally speaking tempo and projection were good, especially in the teamwork between Margaret Martin and Evanne Murray. Each of these experienced actresses gave distinct vigorous characterizations, displaying an excellent grasp of comedy technique.
Harry Luky shone brilliantly in the clownish role of Charlie, particularly in his inebriated scene in Act II.
"Pete" himself required a little more of the broad, fast style of playing. As Alec Hutchins performed the role it belonged in a different frame — that of the naturalistic drama — and consequently this brought some unevenness to the general texture of the production.
Margaret Kirkwood and Gordon Courtenay are two young actors who should prove most useful additions to the group.
When a production has achieved as good a standard as this one did, small errors stand out and deserve to be put right without delay. For example, a first-act curtain that was just seconds too late to be properly effective, and a poor job of makeup on Sheila Brown, who, it seemed, was mis-cast in this instance.
The play will be repeated tonight and Saturday.

Liberals to Ask Debate in House

... "cruel political hoax"

'What Does Gov't Mean By Chronic?'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Thursday the people of British Columbia are not being given all the facts about the Social Credit government's proposed extension of chronic care.

"The government must define what it means by the word 'chronic'," Mr. Perrault said at Vancouver Centre Liberal Association's annual meeting.

He said that in 1957 provincial health minister Martin stated clearly in a brief that by the term 'chronic' the government referred to the so-called active chronics — a minority who could be rehabilitated.

"Where does that leave the substantial majority of other chronic cases, those requiring principally custodial care?" asked the Liberal leader.

Mr. Perrault said that if the government has not changed its definition of what constitutes a chronic "it is in effect playing a cruel political hoax by giving false hope to many who do not meet the health minister's definition of those who will receive help."

Liberal members of the legislature will fight for open debate on the Peace River power development before any licence for water rights is granted, provincial party leader Ray Perrault said Thursday.

He was commenting on statements by W. C. Mainwaring, president of Peace River Power Development Company, who said Tuesday his firm wants approval of its plans by the end of March.

The company hopes to dam the Peace and provide power to the lower mainland by 1968. A feasibility report will be submitted to the water controller by the end of December and a go-ahead decision is anticipated by the end of March.

But Mr. Perrault told The Times from Vancouver the spring legislature will be in session at that time, and we will ask to have open debate—that all facts are brought to light before the agreement is signed.

"We'd like to know how much arable land, how much timber land we are going to lose. They still haven't trotted out the facts."

Under present regulations, the right to dam the Peace may be granted by the water controller without consideration by the legislature.

NOT READY?

Mr. Perrault is also concerned that the newly-formed B.C. Energy Board might not be operative in time to act on the Peace River development. Although a meeting has been set in December, terms of reference of the new board, headed by Dr. Gordon Shrum, are still not known.

The Liberal leader said to his knowledge, there is "definite unrest among members of the energy board... a couple of members are fit to be tied."

He said the delay in establishing the terms of reference of the board established last summer is "... an insult to five good men."

C of C's Brief On Labor Scored

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress Thursday accused the Canadian Chamber of Commerce of seeking to destroy "the basic freedoms of workers as a group in society."

CLC secretary-treasurer Donald McDonald said proposals the chamber made to the federal cabinet Wednesday would, if adopted, "create a conflict between labor and management probably unprecedented in this country."

TOUGHER LAWS

In its annual brief to the cabinet the chamber called for tougher federal labor laws aimed at ending union's immunity from lawsuits.

The brief said trade unions should be made "civilly responsible before the courts for their actions." It called for outlawing of strikes and lock-outs considered dangerous to public health or safety, with compulsory arbitration of disputes in this category.

"The attitude of the chamber of commerce is in direct conflict with that of the Canadian Labor Congress, which has repeatedly urged the government to convene a tripartite conference of industry, labor and government to consider positive means of paving the way for better labor relations," said Mr. MacDonald.

"The measures sought by the Chamber of Commerce... are an effort to institute the most objectionable form of class legislation by destroying the basic freedoms of workers as a group in society."

"In proposing what it terms the legal liability of unions, it is obviously seeking to create a situation in which the limited funds of workers' organizations will be pitted against the resources of corporations."

"The chamber is apparently attempting to revive the so-called 'right-to-work' law idea which has been repeatedly exposed as a deliberate attempt to rally support by the use of a fictitious slogan."

CRANBERRIES BECOME APPLESAUCE FOR IKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower substituted applesauce for cranberries with his Thanksgiving Day dinner Thursday.

The word came from actress Rosalind Russell and her husband, Frederick Brisson, who dined with the president.

A number of cranberry shipments have been seized by the food and drug administration since Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming announced some had been contaminated by improper use of a weed-killer and might cause cancer.

However, Flemming announced he was serving the traditional cranberries with Thanksgiving Day turkey at his house.

GREY CUP

Cool And Dry

TORONTO (CP)—Dry weather is likely for the Grey Cup football game Saturday, the weather office said today.

"Prospects for the big game are promising," the forecaster reported. "It looks like partly cloudy skies, light winds and on the cool side with the game-time temperature hovering around 32 degrees."

Hundreds of Western Grey Cup fans streamed into Toronto by plane and train today to be greeted by the city's first wintry look of the season.

A two-inch snowfall overnight put a white blanket over the tarpaulin-covered football field at Canadian National Exhibition Stadium where Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats meet at 10 a.m. PST.

Odds favor the Bombers 6 to 5 with a four-point scoring spread.

CNE officials said today they hope to have the field in "fair" condition.

CRITICAL

Thursday officials of the Canadian Football League were highly critical of the field's condition and complained to Mayor Phillips and the CNE management.

The tarpaulin was lifted Thursday to speed the drying.

Complete coverage of the Grey Cup festivities and game in Toronto will be brought to Victoria Saturday by television and radio.

CHEK-TV, Channel 6, and CBN, Channel 2, will picture the Grey Cup parade starting at 7 a.m. A matinee program at 9 a.m. will feature films of last year's game and interviews with players. Pre-game telecast starts at 9:30 a.m., with the game itself starting at 10 a.m.

Radio stations CBU, 690 kc, and CKWX, 1130 kc, will broadcast preview of game at 9:15 a.m., with play at 10 a.m.

of the field and some of the rough spots were filled in. The field was bared until 10:30 p.m. when a weather office warning of snow brought out a special crew to cover it.

He said snow would be cleared from the tarp as soon as possible today.

The influx of fans, particularly the westerners, reached its peak this morning and downtown hotels were swarming with colorfully-garbed visitors. Even a train ride of two or three days hadn't dampened the spirited Bomber fans.

Paul Dojack of Regina will referee the game.

DINNER TONIGHT

At the 10th annual Grey Cup dinner tonight, five men whose contribution to football has been outstanding, will be honored.

In recognition of their work, five Canadian Rugby Union plaques will be awarded, one of them posthumously.

IF JAPAN GOES COMMUNIST

'World's Economic Balance in Peril'

"If Japan is added to the Communist empire... the economic balance of the entire world will tilt instantly against the free peoples, doubtless beyond recovery."

Times editor Bruce Hutchison reaches this conclusion in the first article of a series written after his return from a visit to the Japanese government.

The series starts in the Times Saturday and will continue daily. Subsequent articles will deal with the whole power strategy of the Far East and what it means to Canada.

ANCHOR Japan, Mr. Hutchison says, is the economic anchor to the free world's arc of power across the Pacific, shielding the West from the threat posed by the existence of Communist China.

He stresses the vital need for Canadians to know Japan's position, particularly with regard to trade and diplomacy between the two countries.

WIRE BRIEFS

OTTAWA (CP)—The presidents of the CNR and CPR met today with Prime Minister Diefenbaker, but there was no specific information later on what they talked about.

One-Vote Margin

4th Holiday For Mr. K

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew into Moscow by helicopter today from the fourth vacation he has taken this year.

The Soviet leader made the trip from Gargy, in the Caucasus.

One of his other three vacations was taken just before he visited the United States. Khrushchev went hunting with local Communist leaders in Romania. This junket was kept secret until his return to Moscow. In the spring he went to Albania, the Soviet satellite on the Adriatic, for a holiday that later turned into a virtual meeting of top-level Central European Communists.

NEPAL DEFENCE PLEDGE CREATES A SENSATION

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru created a sensation in Parliament today when he extended India's guarantee against Communist Chinese aggression to the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal.

In the past Nehru has given defence guarantees to the neighboring border states of Bhutan and Sikkim, with whom India has treaty relations.

Marine Seized, Beaten by Reds

BOMBAY, India (UPI)—U.S. Marine Corps Sgt. Robert Armstrong of Martinez, Calif., was seized, held for five hours and beaten when he followed a turn-about Communist defector into the grounds of the Red Chinese Consulate-General today.

The state department in Washington called the affair a "high-handed, outrageous thing."

Indian police later rescued the American sergeant.

The Communist official first had asked for asylum in the United States consulate-general here, made a tape recording about his views, and then changed his mind and went back to the Reds.

Armstrong thought he had stolen the consulate-general's tape recorder and had stepped inside the Red Chinese grounds when he was seized and bound.

A consulate-general official said in a statement issued tonight that Armstrong was held for five hours in the Chinese Communist consulate garage and beaten with his hands tied behind his back.

Suffers Stroke

NOISE MAKES ELECTRICITY

Shout and Lights Go on

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The head of an electronics firm here said today his company has developed a "revolutionary" method of producing electrical energy from noise.

Eugene A. Russell, president and head of research in Electronics Development Inc., said the new method will be valuable in many fields from guided missiles to stereophonic sound phonographs.

Russell and one of his engineers, Andrew Duncan, demonstrated the "power amplifier" at a press conference. The unit weighs about five pounds and Russell said it produced 250 watts of current.

"You could put a noise-maker in a soundproof room and bank these elements around it, and you could produce enough power to light up an entire city," said Russell.

Russell said his device uses "electro-chemical units" instead of common vacuum tubes and produces power by processing electrical impulses produced by sound through a microphone.

"You can buy the materials for manufacturing them," Russell said, "at any corner drug-store."

He refused to divulge the materials used.

Worst Since '52 Mob

TOKYO (AP)—Thousands of chanting, shouting Japanese surged through Tokyo streets today and invaded the grounds of the parliament building, demanding an end to military ties with the United States.

Police reported 371 persons injured, 23 severely. Among the injured were 159 policemen. It was the most violent demonstration since the 1952 May Day riot in which one Japanese was killed and 500 injured.

Twice the leftist-led crowd—estimated at 20,000 to 50,000—stormed into the parliament grounds and exultantly paraded the red banners of the SOHYO labor federation while the lawmakers sat inside.

RED FLAGS

"This is unprecedented—red flags in the Diet (parliament)," said Sohyo Secretary-General Akira Iwai exultantly.

Communists, socialists, students and teachers participated.

The demonstration, at first peaceful and orderly, turned violent when police offered to let a limited number inside the parliament grounds to present a petition attacking the Japan-U.S. mutual defence pact.

The crowd surged forward, broke the police lines at the main gate, and poured into the grounds. Most of those hurt were injured in the ensuing melee.

There was also a brief clash between the leftists and a rightist group.

The police cleared the grounds, but later more demonstrators poured over the low walls.

MAJOR TRIUMPH

The overwhelming endorsement of Nehru's way of mediation and patience can be represented as one of the greatest personal triumphs in the prime minister's long career.

It had been preceded by weeks of the stiffest criticism he has ever had to face in the Indian press and from the political opposition.

In a stirring and often emotional speech winding up a three-day debate on the border dispute, Nehru warned that a broader conflict between the two nations could "shake the world."

He said if Parliament feels he could not face the situation adequately, it is free to choose another leader.

ONLY PATH

"There is no other policy open to us but non-alignment," Nehru said.

Bomb Threat

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Police said today that a huge dynamite bomb found between two gasoline reservoirs of the Shell Oil Company had been placed there by a man who demanded 100,000,000 lire ($160,000).

Explosives experts said the bomb could have touched off a blast that would have destroyed the entire area.

Civic and government representatives were alerted.

PAYOLA PROTECTION ASKED BY DISC JOCKEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 31-year-old Bronx singer has asked for police protection, saying he fears attack because of his knowledge of disc jockey "payola" operations, the district attorney's office said today.

Don Anthony has been given no such protection, a spokesman for District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said, but has been invited to come to the district attorney's office and spell out his fears.

The spokesman said he knew nothing of a published report that Anthony possesses cancelled cheques to prove that he had been "bled of $5,000" by disc jockeys who played a record he made on his own label, Barbizon Records.

SUICIDE CHARGE

UN Scandal Hushed Up?

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—A Fort Lauderdale Daily News reporter said today former Danish United Nations diplomat, Provl Bang-Jensen, told him he was fired from his job because he knew of a "major scandal" in the UN.

Reporter Richard Milne said Bang-Jensen told him in a telephone interview last January that "there is a major scandal in the United Nations that is being covered up... that could rock the UN to its foundations." He said it concerned the handling of the investigation of the Hungarian revolution.

Bang-Jensen's body was found Thursday on a bridge path on the outskirts of Queensborough, N.Y. Police said the 50-year-old diplomat apparently took his own life in despair over his dismissal.

Milne said Bang-Jensen refused to elaborate on the "scandal" charges.

Diplomat 'Railroaded' Out of Job

The reporter quoted Bang-Jensen as saying he had been "railroaded" out of the UN for keeping secret the names of Hungarian freedom fighters which the Soviet bloc nations were trying to secure. He said he was "sure" pressure for his dismissal was brought by Communist countries implicated in the alleged scandal.

Milne said Bang-Jensen refused to turn over the Hungarian lists to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld at the request of the Hungarians. He said the freedom fighters were afraid the names would fall into the hands of the Soviet bloc if put in the UN vault.

Milne quoted Bang-Jensen as saying he had been barred from access to records necessary to defence of insubordination charges by the UN. The UN later fired him on those grounds.

Milne said he talked with Bang-Jensen shortly after his dismissal with a view to collaborating with the Danish diplomat on a book about his experiences. At the time, Bang-Jensen was in New York.

DARING DASH THROUGH FIRE

This Texas and Pacific train appears engulfed by flames, but really is speeding past flames which whipped across the pasture land of Texas, lap-

ping at the edge of the railroad tracks Thursday. Some 3,000 acres were scorched in eastern Texas, but flames were under control today.

What Mr. Smith's really hintin' at is mall-fessance.

Them reports from Tokyo sound like Grey Cup fever.

Facts and Mr. Smith

MR. J. DONALD SMITH HAS again resorted to innuendo in his campaign for the mayoralty. He has voiced his personal suspicions that something was wrong with certain city land deals—and has failed to support those suspicions with hard fact.

He has denied a City Council spokesman the immediate opportunity to answer the vague points he has raised.

And he has refused a challenge to appear before the City Council to give substance to his implied charges—though obviously the City Council is the place where he should have produced the facts.

Is this the way to create public confidence in his ability to serve as Victoria's mayor?

"I am not accusing anyone of misdoings," he said at one point in his campaign meeting—the same meeting where Alderman Geoffrey Edgelow was denied permission to speak on the points the candidate raised. But, added Mr. Smith, "I think something was wrong with these arrangements. I think we are entitled to find out what. That's all."

But how anxious is Mr. Smith to find out?

Not anxious enough, apparently, to hear any explanation that Alderman Edgelow might have given. Not anxious enough to appear before the City Council to present facts. And not anxious enough to accept an offer from one of the Victoria concerns he named to give him the details on a deal which Mr. Smith questions.

The candidate says Mayor Scurrah visited a View Street property with Standard Furniture officials, "the Dennys I believe," on or about October 27. He adds that he has a photostatic copy of a telegram sent to the property's owner in California the next day, offering a price which would have to be accepted, if at all, in two days. The plan for the View Street parking centre, Mr. Smith says, was not publicly announced until the first two or three days of November. "Was there collusion in the purchase of this property?" he asks.

In an independent statement the solicitor for the Standard Furniture interests states that his principals had been negotiating for the purchase of the property in 1951 and again in 1952. They temporarily abandoned negotiations but finally purchased the property in the fall of 1958. The property, says the solicitor, has been offered for sale to the city, and is still available, at the price paid by the company.

"Mr. T. G. Denny," the solicitor adds, "also informs me that he recently offered to give all these facts to Mr. Smith, but that Mr. Smith refused the offer."

Is this the reaction of a person who wants information, who desires facts?

Or is it the reaction of a man who, considers his political ends served best by the promotion of suspicion and the careful avoidance of answers to the questions he asks?

Chicken and Chalk Line

THERE IS A STORY THAT IF a chicken's beak is placed on the floor and a chalk line drawn from it, the chicken will follow the chalk line to its end and stop there, or fall over, in a form of hypnosis.

Has Western society become the chicken for the chalk line of technological and scientific advance drawn by Russia?

Some observers are beginning to suggest that it has and that the chicken should lift its head and look around.

John Allan May, writing in The Christian Science Monitor, is among those who propose such action.

Nothing, he says, can take away from either the historic significance or the technical brilliance of that Soviet first photograph of the other side of the moon. In space, he adds, the Soviet Union is two, maybe even five, years ahead of the West and drawing away.

But, he argues, in certain other important fields, the West remains a like or greater distance ahead of Russia.

He cites housing and asks how long it is since an American or a Briton, as a matter of routine, shared a room with someone else, perhaps a stranger, and called it home. If plans are fulfilled, he adds, there should be an average of two Soviet citizens per room by 1965.

He lists other items: Russia is about 35 years behind the United States in car ownership.

By 1965 Russia expects to have 6.5 television sets per 100 people. Britain today has 15.1 per cent, the United States 27.4.

Mechanical aids in the American home are 20 years ahead of the Russian. In the production of good woollens the United States is 60 years ahead of the U.S.S.R. and so on.

It is easy enough to downgrade these Western achievements, to call them the products of a material age and the soulless attributes of society grown fat.

Maybe they are. At the same time they represent goals to which Russians aspire and for which the people of the U.S.S.R. are longing.

A refrigerator in every house, a car in every garage does not compare with a successful moonshot. Neither does a moonshot compare with a refrigerator in every house or a car in every garage. Which is the point Mr. May makes.

All is not lost to the West, he seems to say.

There are of course circumstances involving the scientific excellence of moonshots which could cause that loss.

Canada and Divorce

OTTAWA REPORTS THAT new efforts are being made to amend Canada's divorce law. This is an old story and there is at present no indication that the current attempt will proceed further than others which died either in the Senate or the Commons.

It is significant, nevertheless, that this is the third major effort in five years. The forces supporting change are energetic. They are apparently unwilling to let the issue rest.

When the grounds for divorce are limited almost entirely to adultery in Canada (Nova Scotia also includes cruelty) the need for amendment is obvious.

The present move, it is reported, would include desertion, cruelty and incurable insanity. These seem to provide adequate reasons for dissolution of the marriage contract.

But that is only one part of the story. While adultery remains virtually the sole grounds, the courts cannot escape the abuses imposed upon them by too harsh conditions. People who have failed in marriage, whose only hope of regaining a normal life rests on permanent separation and remarriage, will obviously resort to subterfuge when no alternative exists.

Manufactured evidence and perjury are common ingredients of the indecency which accompanies divorce proceedings so frequently in Canada today.

What purpose is being served by retaining such a system?

Certainly the bar of British Columbia sees none—a point which it has made evident on numerous occasions.

Very possibly the present effort to amend the law will fail, as others have before it. But the persistence with which thoughtful people are repeating their demands for change will eventually prevail.

Everyone Likes a Horse

GARY COOPER DOESN'T know why people watch TV horse opera because it always shows the same story. This is the man who began in the moving picture silent westerns, advanced to more serious parts and progressed, or regressed, to "High Noon".

With a dozen simple variations,

perhaps less, the horse opera is the same story over and over again. But with a few more variations, so is drama in general, say the researchers. Didn't they run down all funny stories to seven common roots?

However threadbare the plot, the western retains one outstanding appeal. Almost everyone likes a horse.

You Can Fool Some of the Ducks...

A NEWS item tells of a new mechanized decoy duck that is being manufactured in Missouri. The duck is so perfectly colored and designed that any duck, even with 20-20 vision, would take it for a cousin or a brother. But the final touch is that this decoy duck swims. It paddles out across a pond leaving ripples that can be seen by any duck flying overhead, and it is good for eight to ten hours of activity, spurred on by a battery—a wet cell of course—concealed in its innards.

Providing there are no short circuits, your six-watt Mallard or electronic Butterball will parade its painted finery for all to see, and lure the flesh-and-blood travellers in to supper, death and the sportsman's deep-freeze.

But what struck me about the item was the opening sentence. It said: "It's getting so a duck doesn't have a chance any more."

You Too Duck?

But who's laughing? Just among us ducks, we're in exactly the same spot ourselves.

Who gets lured into hearing and seeing TV commercials by decoys in the form of quiz geniuses who pretend they can answer any question you ask them? Just us ducks, that's who.

Who gets lured in to the store with the fabulous price reductions—the fire sale, closing out sale, renovation sale—when the fellow next door sells the same article for less any day of the week? Let one of the ducks in the back row answer.

Let us not feel contemptuous of the real duck who gets taken in by a decoy that looks like a duck and swims like a duck. Old homo sapiens gets taken in by decoys which would never fool any self-respecting pintail or canvasback.

Solid Evidence

Remember the old well that fast-talking salesman sold you—those certificates in the old bureau drawer? That was the day you were shot down over the pond as you came in for a landing beside an electrified piece of painted wood.

Remember the used car you bought with the wonderful two-tone color job? The one that you later found needed a re-bore, new radiator, new battery, re-built transmission and a set of brake linings? That was another time when you slid in beside a decoy and got shot down before you touched water.

Remember the young woman you met at the party? The one who preened her feathers so prettily and swam in such inviting circles over the smooth surface of the social pond? How could you have known that the pretty feathers were painted on, that the soft-appearing plumage concealed a hardwood heart?

Or move into a wider field. Here's a man who says he will increase your income, reduce your taxes, ensure permanent employment, give you everything you want but at the same time charge you less, and run the country for you as it has never been run before. He looks like a genuine duck, and although he can't swim he can certainly quack. You prepare to land beside him and rest on his pond and before you know it you're a dead duck.

Or take the fellow who calls to you from the peaceful feeding grounds below. Nothing but peace down here, he quacks—see my genuine-looking plumage—lots of room to co-exist—nothing but peace, peace, peace. And he's right on two counts. You might coast in to a landing and win a piece of lead and the peace of death.

These may be embarrassing things to bring up. Man likes to think of himself as a little smarter than the rest of the feathered, furred and thin-skinned creatures. But the record isn't too good.

Who's Fooling?

We may fool a duck with a battery-operated bird that swims. But the odds are good that we'll fool ourselves, too. Any time now we'll read a news item to the effect that some hunter, taking a mean advantage of sitting ducks, has shot up a hundred dollars worth of battery-powered decoys belonging to his neighbor, in the belief that they were the real thing.

To be perfectly frank, man is one of the most gullible of the earth's fauna. He's such an easy mark that even man can fool him. As the fellow in Missouri might also have said, it's getting so a man doesn't have a chance any more.

Delighted

We are delighted that Dr. McLean has decided to take an active part in civic affairs. If other men of Dr. McLean's calibre would enter the government at all levels, there would be less reason for cynicism in the conduct of public business. We need men of mature years, sound judgment and the highest personal integrity. Their reward will lie in the approbation of their fellow citizens.

No Alcan Gimmick

We are told by the anti's that the reason the pro-fluoridationists are so active is because the Aluminum Company of Canada has to get rid of surplus fluorides. Maybe the copy of a letter to Dr. Gordon Bates, general director, Health League of Canada, may make them think.

(MISS) F. PATERSON,
1340 Richardson Street.

Dear Dr. Bates: Despite rumors to the contrary, I assure you that the Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited does not either directly or indirectly produce any compound of fluorine which can be used in any way in the fluoridation of water supplies.

This Company has no position whatsoever in the production of fluorine subject.

To Save Life

I understand Mr. Gagliardi has stated the closing of the Lions Gate bridge was justified, to save a life.

I would suggest Mr. Gagliardi, in his role as minister of highways, adhere closer to his philosophy namely, the erection of stop signs where necessary, the elimination of dangerous curves as well as decreasing rather than increasing the speed limits on two lane roads carrying four lane highway traffic. This should be done before more useful lives are sacrificed.

Park in Oak Bay

The proposal for a new park in Oak Bay is, I am sure, a wonderful idea. With the ever increasing population, government at all levels should make an effort to provide parks and open spaces for our future.

The council in Oak Bay is to be congratulated for its foresight in this matter. I think it most important that the area be kept in its natural state and also without roads breaking it up into small pieces. Parking could be arranged artistically in certain areas which would not obtrude on the general lovely picture.

Victoria has many beautiful formal gardens. Surely we should strive to keep these lovely spots where every spring the blues and yellows present the most beautiful and uplifting picture to the beholder. I have watched with regret this beautiful picture vanish in other parts of the Uplands, and the only other place of any size where this display could be seen is in Beacon Hill Park, where this spring it was an unforgettable sight.

In my humble opinion I think we should try and preserve some part of our beautiful picture in its natural state.

Science and Religion

Your correspondent, M. G. Hannaford, in his reply to my earlier letter, has mentioned the main factor governing human behavior and that is religion.

Religion in many respects is a worthwhile institution in our society. Unfortunately, however, because of its indisputable nature, it has stood in the way of scientific and intellectual progress for centuries. Faith must not be challenged by reason.

Witness the persecution of the early-day scientists. "The laboratory is a late-comer on the human scene... the tribunals for heresy, the stake, are far older as molding instruments of belief and more direct and effective..." The price Galileo paid for his acceptance and advocacy of the Copernican doctrine was humiliation and the condemnation of "heresy." (From "The Story of Human Error," by Joseph Jastrow.)

And so Galileo was gagged and Bruno was burnt.

Fortunately, after the separation of Church and State, religion held only an indirect influence. Consequently, science made great progress and it is making progress.

Nevertheless, religion is still the basis for our laws and social morality. It is high time that science replaced religion in regulating social behavior, especially in the field of human sexual conduct.

LONDON LETTER:

Without Cheers

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE is to come to London next April. Here is an occasion for remembrance. Will the President wish to revisit the haunts which the General knew so well between 1940 and 1944? Even if he should have forgotten Carlton House Terrace in the responsibilities of his recent dignity, he may be sure that some people here have not.

They will be ready to welcome a man who stood by his country when it was almost alone. Whether the London crowd will be equally ready is another matter.

It does turn out for a few men, like President Eisenhower, but it more often takes these visits calmly. If the streets are thinly lined one hopes the French will not take it as a political gesture. It will just be London going about its business.

The itinerary of the state visit is not yet known. The President will presumably follow the common round of heads of state—Buckingham Palace, Guildhall, and (a pinch of irony here) Harwell.

There could be French variations like the laying of a wreath on Foch's statue at Victoria or an inspection of that great French cultural asset the Lycee at South Kensington.

Reducing Misery

The season of private members' bills has just opened in the new Parliament and gives special point to an examination of the scope for this type of legislation which Mrs. Lena Jeger, formerly Labor member for Holborn and St. Pancras South, has contributed to the current "Political Quarterly."

She is concerned with "the politics of the non-political"—the difficulty of legislating on matters affecting private morality and behaviour. She, of course, would like the Labor party, "with its radical traditions and sporadic iconoclasm," to launch a deliberate attack on all statutes which add to human misery and fear.

But Mrs. Jeger does not want to wait for that millennium. She addresses herself to considering how the law may be changed when controversy makes a subject "unsuitable" for a private member's bill and other considerations make it undesirable for Government action.

The most hopeful line, she suggests, would be for a Government to overhaul all existing legislation on private morality and behaviour, and thus leave "non-political" problems as sins rather than crimes.

No Farmyard Whiff

The new Lord Mayor certainly succeeded in showing Londoners that agriculture is a modern, mechanized, and highly organized industry.

The children who waited in the cold with their parents on Saturday morning to watch the Lord Mayor's Show waved their favors at the floats carrying the Pig Industry Development Authority, the Egg Board, the Fat-stock Marketing Corporation, fertilizers, and pest control, and at the combine harvester and grass cutters, but they could hardly have been carried away with the romance of the countryside.

There was not a trace of mud on the brightly painted tractors driven by men in white overalls; there was not even a whiff of the farmyard. The two live cows were surrounded by tubes, gleaming metal, and white-coated men.

This part of the procession was all very hygienic, very well-ordered, and very dull. But there were compensations.

Two of the roughriders had a very rough ride; there were 14 bands, mounted hunt servants, beaglers, men with guns and fishing rods, and, of course, the brilliant scarlet and gold state chariot carrying Sir Edmund Stockdale himself.

Zebra House

Zebra House, the hostel in Kensington closely linked to the Capricorn Society, has for some weeks been the home of 10 men and women from this country and Africa.

They and many other volunteers keen on making a success of this experiment in multi-racial living have been working hard to complete the alterations and decoration. The result is a bright, lively, and comfortable house which will soon have 18 residents drawn from all over the Commonwealth.

As the whole point of the hostel in Marlow Road is to provide a friendly, family atmosphere which the residents will remember when they go home, it is hoped it will be widely used by people from Central and East Africa who are not able to experience any close relationship with members of another race in their own countries.

A number of places are reserved for English people. Mr. Nigel Bruce, chairman of the hostel, says that he hopes that Kensington people could help by offering a spare room to the warden for occasional use.

Brighter Lights

The new Minister of Transport is a great one for personal investigations. These are the foggy nights and he ought to go out and look around to learn about how deficient so many motor-cars are in their lighting.

Even those which have all the lights demanded by the law can be dangerously dim in a heavy mist. The London taxi-cab in particular depends upon a pair of rear lights which were no doubt adequate 40 years ago.

As we move towards modern roads and higher speeds surely it is time to take a less Victorian view of lights? The whole concept of "lighting-up time" is grievously outdated, even in the streets of London (let alone on what few high-speed roads we have).

It looks as though the time has come to place on drivers the responsibility to have their lights on at any time of the day or in any climatic conditions which seem to make lights necessary. This is the rule rigorously followed by the drivers of London Transport.

MONTE ROBERTS

Far be it from me to interfere with another department of this newspaper.

Especially such a department as the sports department, staffed as it is with sound chaps, good sports all.

But.

Here it is half-past Nov. 27, and the aforesaid department ain't told us who is going to win the Grey Cup.

After all, the Grey Cup is the only East-West summit meeting guaranteed to take place, so we are entitled to know how it is all going to come out in the end.

The sports department refuses to give us the definitive answer, and contents itself with ifs, ands, and buts.

Before it is too late I, personally will give you the winner.

First you must understand that this East-West meeting involves a game known as football, played by gentlemen who are paid large sums of money to clobber each other at each and every opportunity.

The gentlemen who clobber the other gentlemen with the greatest frequency are often declared the winners.

But not always.

Occasionally, the more-clobbered team wins over the more-clobbering team, because the team which clobbers more is observed by a third team, consisting of individuals wearing vertically-striped shirts, and known to one and all as the "officials."

With this thought in mind, consider the possibilities of the meeting between East, represented by the Toronto suburb known as Hamilton, and West, represented by the Brandon suburb known as Winnipeg.

Each team (I fearlessly forecast) will have 12 men on the field at each and every given time, except when they have 11 or 13. (This happens when the coach is watching the drum majorettes.)

Basically, though, Hamilton will send out a team of 12, strong, competent men, adequately paid, to meet a team from Winnipeg consisting of 12, strong, competent men, adequately paid.

Therefore, it is easy to reach a firm decision on which team is going to win.

I am wagering rather heavily (.05c) on the outcome of this East-West meeting, and I have no hesitation in urging you to bet with me.

We can't lose.

Because I am betting on the team wearing the vertically striped shirts.

AWOL Pheasant Seen A-plenty But Uncaught

Cherry, the fugitive pheasant, is still leading his owner a merry dance around the city.

Nearly two weeks after he escaped from the home of Miss Jessie Read at 1672 Pembroke, Cherry showed up today at an apartment block at 1623 Belmont Avenue.

Mrs. Edith Crawford, one of the tenants, notified Miss Read who hurried round with her net and some food.

Cherry was crafty as usual. He wouldn't let Miss Read come near him, but when she was safely out of range he ate up all the corn and bread she gave him.

A while later he disappeared and Miss Read sadly returned home. She has been out every day since Cherry left home last Sunday week.

Shortly after noon, Mrs. J. G. Smith of 3176 Orillia reported seeing a pheasant answering Cherry's description flying over her house in the direction of the Tillicum Outdoor Theatre.

Miss Read has been notified. Meanwhile, it has been suggested she should obtain a wire net coop with a trap door which opens in but not out.

Cherry could then be lured inside with a little corn... or could he?

DENTIST QUILTS AFTER 'ABUSE' FROM JORDON

Dr. F. W. Arkle said Thursday in Nanaimo he resigned as consultant dentist in the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit because he was subjected to "malicious abuse by elected representatives in Island communities."

At the quarterly meeting of the Union Board of Health here he said Mayor Loran Jordan of Port Alberni was "abusive" and M. F. Wise, Lake Cowichan village chairman, was "inconsiderate."

He said Mayor Jordan accused him of owning stock in a fluoride company and in making foolish claims about fluoridation of the water supply.

He said he had driven to Lake Cowichan over icy roads to address the village commission but that Mr. Wise would not allow him to speak because it would be against protocol.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Fortune, Cowichan, Miramichi, James Bay, return 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Jonquiere leaves 8 tonight, returns 8 p.m. Sunday.

Woman Goes For a Ride During Spat

Mrs. Alma Smith, 46, of 1121 Meares, was taken for a ride Thursday in a most unusual fashion.

She clung to the front of a car driven by David V. Connelly, 7 Alma Place, for eight blocks.

When she eventually fell off at Rupert and Heywood after taxi driver Jim Gorst had stopped the vehicle, she was taken to nearby St. Joseph's Hospital by police ambulance, X-rayed and released.

Connelly went to police headquarters to report the accident.

SHE HUNG ON

Police said the woman approached the car on Government Street near the Empress and tried to get into the vehicle to talk to the driver, Connelly didn't want to talk, so he drove away with Mrs. Smith clinging to the car's front.

They went up Government to Superior, east on Superior, along Heywood where they stopped and had an argument.

The car started again with the woman still hanging on to the front. They went down Pendergast, then back along Heywood where the car was stopped by Mr. Gorst.

'Klondyke Night' Proceeds for Junior High Band

S. J. Willis Band Parents' Auxiliary will put on a Klondyke Night at the school on Saturday, Dec. 5, from 7 to 11 p.m. to raise money to support the band's program.

The band won first place at the Waterloo, Ont., Music Festival in 1956.

There will be all kinds of games, home cooking, white elephant stalls, movies, refreshments and door prizes, and the band, conducted by Howard Denike, will give a concert. Tickets are 25 cents each.

WIND SATURDAY, RAIN SUNDAY; WEEKEND OUTLOOK—WARMER

The weather outlook for the weekend is dull.

Skies, blue today, will cloud Saturday and there's a good chance of spotty rain Sunday, the weatherman says.

Winds will freshen Saturday afternoon to around 20 m.p.h. from the southeast.

Temperatures are expected to be slightly warmer, from a low of 38 to a high of 50 degrees Saturday.

VIEW ROYAL STAYS UNDER GOVERNMENT CONTROL

3 to 1 Vote Rejects Incorporation

A flood of nay votes washed out all hope of village incorporation for View Royal Thursday.

The proposal was rejected by a three-to-one margin with the actual count listed as 535 to 186.

A total of 721 persons, out of 1,028, voted in the plebiscite.

The yes vote chalked up a small 25.79 per cent score, far short of the required 60 per cent for passing the measure.

The victorious anti-village group issued this statement:

"It must be understood from the landslide vote that the people of View Royal certainly wish to remain under the supervision of the provincial government.

"The government will certainly think twice next time before it spends any money allowing a few men to try and incorporate any section of Vancouver Island into a village, which could be possible for quite a few years to come."

A. W. Bradfield, who led the drive for incorporation, said:

"Naturally, we are disappointed. But at the same time we are pleased that so many turned out to vote. It was conducted in democratic fashion and now we know for sure what the voters really want."

B.C. to Press 'Radical' Ideas On Rail Rates

Probers Here Early in '60

The British Columbia government will make "totally radical" suggestions to Canada's Royal Commission on Transportation when it sits here early in 1960, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

He said his department is "up to its ears" marshalling argument for adoption of a new basis of freight rates—more closely related to the actual cost of service.

The minister said although the cost-of-service basis is now being adopted for freight rate schedules by railways in England and Europe proper, it is a totally radical theory in Canada.

Freight rates at present are based on "what the traffic will bear" plus various statutory subsidies, according to economists.

There is a higher rate for instance for high-value shipments such as machinery than there is for low-value freight such as pig iron. It is also a practice by railways to charge more where there are no competing services, they say.

HIT HARDER

Rail rates have more effect on the B.C. economy than on most other provinces because of the long hauls involved between the west coast and the eastern centres of production.

In earlier talks with federal authorities on freight rates, Mr. Bonner had proposed a diminishing subsidy be paid to national railways which would enable them to modernize their services, thus cutting operational costs and permitting freight rates to decline.

The subsidy would run out at the time the railways were completely geared for fast, efficient and cheaper operations. However, Mr. Bonner did not indicate whether this proposal again would be contained in the B.C. submission.

OPENS FEB. 8

The royal commission on transportation opens its western round of hearings at Winnipeg Feb. 8. It recently completed a two-week tour of the maritimes and is to meet Dec. 4 in Ottawa to hear submissions by major railways.

M. A. MacPherson, acting chairman of the commission, said it will continue westward from Winnipeg to Regina, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria. Attorney-General Bonner said he has not been informed of the date of the B.C. hearings.

3-Way Race For Mayoralty?

Ex-Alderman Possible 'Sleeper' Candidate

By JOHN MIKA

Is Robert Macmillan going to return to city politics as a dark horse candidate for mayor?

That question has been circulating among campaign observers for days.

It has been denied by Mr. Macmillan, motel and restaurant operator who dropped out of council in 1956 after serving three terms as alderman.

But the heated mayoralty race this year could produce a last-minute entry. It's that kind of campaign.

Asked about the strong rumors that he will jump into the fight, Mr. Macmillan replied:

"Don't be ridiculous, definitely not at the moment. I'm busy."

But Mr. Macmillan has had the time to attend civic election rallies as a spectator and as mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith twice has pointedly referred to "my friend Bob Macmillan" being in his audience.

AN OFFICER WHO SERVED with the Canadian Scottish Regiment in Victoria for 20 years has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel and appointed senior staff officer of headquarters, 25 Militia Group, the army announced today. He is Lieut.-Col. S. E. Park, 3820 Merriman, who in civilian life is public relations officer for the parks branch of the British Columbia government.

Vets' Hospital Dental Surgeon Dies Age 60

Dr. Charles Bertram Mess, 60, dental surgeon at the Veterans' Hospital, died in the hospital today after a short illness.

Born in Victoria, he served as a gunner with the field artillery in the First World War, and after the war attended North Pacific College of Dentistry in Portland, Ore., where he received his degree.

He served as a major in the Dental Corps in the Second World War, and in 1945 joined the veterans' affairs department.

Surviving are the widow, Lila, at home, 1160 Clovelly Terrace; two sisters, Miss Eva Mess and Mrs. A. Glanz, Victoria, and one brother, Percy, of Portland, Ore.

Funeral will be held at Sands Monday at 3:15 and will be followed by cremation.

Location Change, Increased Power Asked by CHEK

An application has been made to the Broadcast Board of Governors at Ottawa requesting permission to change the location of CHEK-TV's transmitter to Saturna Island in the Strait of Georgia, station president-owner David M. Armstrong announced today.

The application also asked permission to boost the station's power from 1800 watts to the maximum 100,000 watts.

The application is expected to be brought before the board when it meets on Jan. 18.

Mr. Armstrong's efforts to move the transmitter to another site will be welcomed by many in the Victoria area whose Channel 5 reception is interfered with by the strong signal from the local channel.

"Basically," Mr. Armstrong said, "the change in transmission locale should do away with the present interference problems."

ROBERT MACMILLAN ... 'I'll let you know.'

Highway Route Being Weighed

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi will confer soon with logging operators on Northern Vancouver Island on a proposed route for a new highway connecting Kelsey Bay with Port Hardy, it was learned today.

The logging firms will be shown a route, already roughed out by the highways department, and utilizing many private logging company roads. The companies will be asked to co-operate in permitting public usage of roads running along the northeast section of the Island.

FILL GAP

The minister expects to be able to call tenders, probably this winter, for construction work in the spring, which would fill in the gaps between the existing roads.

He told the Times: "It is planned to use as many of the present roads in the area as possible."

At some later time "further construction would be undertaken to straighten and relocate the route, but our first aim must be to get some proper access" for people living or wishing to settle in the northern end of the Island.

Earlier Premier Bennett announced he had established a committee of the highways minister, Recreation Minister Earle C. Westwood and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Wiliston. He said the committee would endeavor to advance planning for northern island development in the fields of power, industry and road construction.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What action could one take to recover the money from a Montreal firm which will not ship the goods paid for and ignores to make the refund?—G. P.

A. Write the Better Business Bureau, University Towers, Montreal, and explain the situation. They will investigate and advise.

Q. With all the talk about civil defence in Canada, how, briefly, does it work in Great Britain?—A. A.

A. CD planning in Great Britain is the responsibility of a number of ministers, each of whom undertakes duties which, in wartime, would represent a natural extension of peacetime functions. The CD Corps now comprises 330,465 volunteers and the Industrial CD Service 200,323 volunteers, plus 20,000 in the auxiliary fire service.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Answers requiring a question answered in the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily.

Nurse Slain, Family Missing Too

SUICIDE CHARGE

UN Scandal
Hushed Up?

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—A Fort Lauderdale Daily News reporter said today former Danish United Nations diplomat, Provl Bang-Jensen, told him he was fired from his job because he knew of a "major scandal" in the UN.

Reporter Richard Milne said Bang-Jensen told him in a telephone interview last January that "there is a major scandal in the United Nations that is being covered up . . . that could rock the UN to its foundations." He said it concerned the handling of the investigation of the Hungarian revolution.

Bang-Jensen's body was found Thursday on a bridge path on the outskirts of Queensborough, N.Y. Police said the 50-year-old diplomat apparently took his own life in despair over his dismissal.

Milne said Bang-Jensen refused to elaborate on the "scandal" charges.

Diplomat 'Railroaded' Out of Job

The reporter quoted Bang-Jensen as saying he had been "railroaded" out of the UN for keeping secret the names of Hungarian freedom fighters which the Soviet bloc nations were trying to secure. He said he was "sure" pressure for his dismissal was brought by Communist countries implicated in the alleged scandal.

Milne said Bang-Jensen refused to turn over the Hungarian lists to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld at the request of the Hungarians. He said the freedom fighters were afraid the names would fall into the hands of the Soviet bloc if put in the UN vault.

Milne quoted Bang-Jensen as saying he had been barred from access to records necessary to defence of insubordination charges by the UN. The UN later fired him on those grounds.

PAYOLA PROTECTION
ASKED BY DISC JOCKEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 31-year-old Bronx singer has asked for police protection, saying he fears attack because of his knowledge of disc jockey "payola" operations, the district attorney's office said today.

Don Anthony has been given no such protection, a spokesman for District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said, but has been invited to come to the district attorney's office and spell out his fears.

The spokesman said he knew nothing of a published report that Anthony possesses cancelled cheques to prove that he had been "bled of $5,000" by disc jockeys who played a record he made on his own label, Barbizon Records.

GREY CUP

Cool
And Dry

TORONTO (CP)—Dry weather is likely for the Grey Cup football game Saturday, the weather office said today.

"Prospects for the big game are promising," the forecaster reported.

"It looks like partly cloudy skies, light winds and on the cool side with the game-time temperature hovering around 32 degrees."

Hundreds of Western Grey Cup fans streamed into Toronto by plane and train today to be greeted by the city's first wintry look of the season.

A two-inch snowfall overnight put a white blanket over the tarpaulin-covered football field at Canadian National Exhibition Stadium where Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats meet at 10 a.m. PST.

Odds favor the Bombers 6 to 5 with a four-point scoring spread.

CNE officials said today they hope to have the field in "fair" condition.

CRITICAL

Thursday officials of the Canadian Football League were highly critical of the field's condition and complained to Mayor Phillips and the CNE management.

The tarpaulin was lifted Thursday to speed the drying

Complete coverage of the Grey Cup festivities and game in Toronto will be brought to Victoria Saturday by television and radio.

CHEK-TV, Channel 6, and CBUT, Channel 2, will picture the Grey Cup parade starting at 7 a.m. A matinee program at 9 a.m. will feature films of last year's game and interviews with players. Pre-game telecast starts at 9:30 a.m., with the game itself starting at 10 a.m.

Radio stations CBU, 690 kc. and CKWX, 1130 kc. will broadcast preview of game at 9:15 a.m., with play at 10 a.m.

of the field and some of the rough spots were filled in. The field was bared until 10:30 p.m. when a weather office warning of snow brought a special crew to cover it. He said snow would be cleared from the tarp as soon as possible today.

The influx of fans, particularly the westerners, reached its peak this morning and downtown hotels were swarming with colorfully-garbed visitors. Even a train ride of two or three days hadn't dampened the spirited Bomber fans.

Paul Dojack of Regina will referee the game.

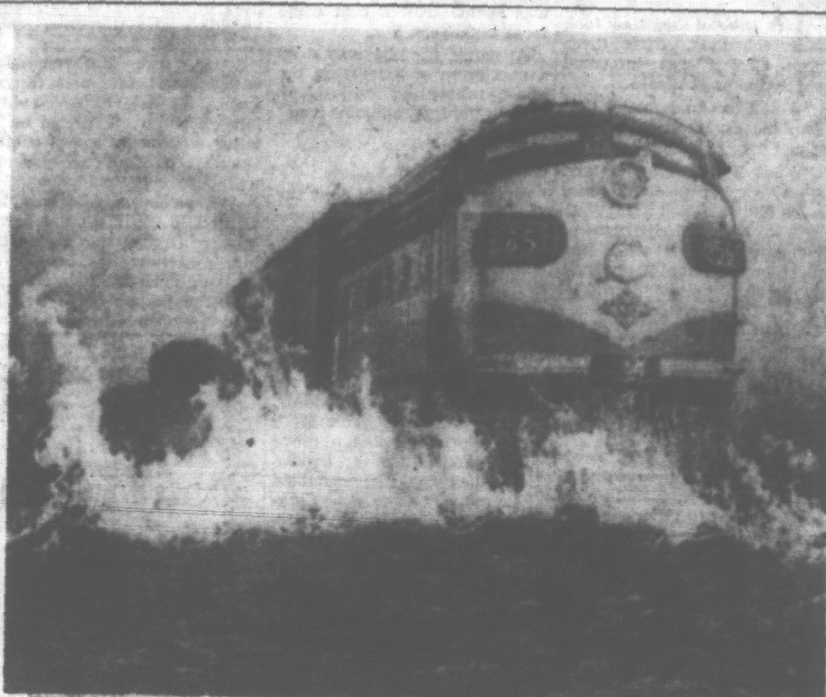

DINNER TONIGHT

At the 10th annual Grey Cup dinner tonight, five men whose contribution to football has been outstanding, will be honored.

In recognition of their work, five Canadian Rugby Union plaques will be awarded, one of them posthumously.

DARING DASH THROUGH FIRE

Big Triumph for Nehru
As China Policy Upheld

NEW DELHI (AP)—The lower House of Parliament today overwhelmingly endorsed Prime Minister Nehru's handling of the border crisis with Red China after the Indian leader told the legislators to either support him or get a new prime minister.

Only one or two "nos" were heard in the thunderous voice vote that approved Nehru's policy of negotiation with the Chinese to avoid fighting.

The actual motion was an approval of recent diplomatic correspondence between India and China.

Two motions critical of the correspondence earlier had been voted down, also by voice vote. Only a dozen-odd members of the 500-member House raised their voices in support of the critical amendments.

MAJOR TRIUMPH

The overwhelming endorsement of Nehru's way of mediation and patience can be represented as one of the greatest personal triumphs in the prime minister's long career.

It had been preceded by weeks of the stiffest criticism he has ever had to face in the Indian press and from the political opposition.

In a stirring and often emotional three-day debate on the border dispute, Nehru warned that a broader conflict between the two nations could "shake the world."

He said if Parliament feels he could not face the situation adequately, it is free to choose another leader.

"There is no other policy open to us but non-alignment," Nehru said.

NEPAL DEFENCE PLEDGE CREATES A SENSATION

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru created a sensation in Parliament today when he extended India's guarantee against Communist Chinese aggression to the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal.

In the past Nehru has given defence guarantees to the neighboring border states of Bhutan and Sikkim, with whom India has treaty relations.

The kingdom of Nepal, about 54,362 square miles, lies to the west of Bhutan and also is bordered by Tibet and India.

Marine Seized,
Beaten by Reds

BOMBAY, India (UPI)—U.S. Marine Corps Sgt. Robert Armstrong of Martinez, Calif., was seized, held for five hours and beaten when he followed a turn-about Communist defector into the grounds of the Red Chinese Consulate-General today.

The state department in Washington called the affair a "high-handed, outrageous thing."

Indian police later rescued the American sergeant.

The Communist official first had asked for asylum in the United States consulate-general here, made a tape recording about his views, and then changed his mind and went back to the Reds.

Armstrong thought he had stolen the consulate-general's tape recorder and had stepped inside the Red Chinese grounds when he was seized and bound.

A consulate-general official said in a statement issued tonight that Armstrong was held for five hours in the Chinese Communist consulate garage and beaten with his hands tied behind his back.

Beer, Wine Sales
In Stores Asked

VANCOUVER — The Vancouver Tourist Association has asked for widespread changes in British Columbia liquor laws, including Sunday opening of beer parlors and use of barmaids in licensed clubs and lounges.

The proposals were approved Thursday by directors of the association for a brief to be presented to the provincial government.

Director Jack Melville said the present laws are "constant sources of irritation in the tourist business."

OTHER CHANGES

Among other major changes were:

1. Sale of beer and wine in grocery stores.

2. An end to closure of liquor outlets on election days.

3. Introduction of "standup" bars, where patrons stand while drinking.

4. Elimination of compulsory closure of beer parlors between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.

5. Revision of restrictions on signs outside licensed premises.

6. Permission for hotel guests to order drinks in their rooms.

"There have been very few changes in the B.C. Liquor Act since it was passed in 1953," Mr. Melville said. "It is high time there were some."

"At present a man can guzzle a whole bottle in his hotel room, but he can't order just one drink. But his hotel room is his home, it's his domicile."

Mr. Melville said the tourist association is "not out to promote the sale of liquor, but to promote common-sense amendment to the liquor laws."

Rev. H. T. Allen, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of British Columbia, said the proposal was "extremely illogical."

Attorney-General Bonner promised serious study of the brief.

"My immediate reaction is that there is more to the tourist business than liquor."

Ken Campbell, president of the B.C. Hotel's Association, said his group is definitely against Sunday sale of beer.

Pontifical Mass
For Archbishop Charbonneau

MONTREAL (CP)—Pontifical requiem mass was celebrated at St. James Cathedral today for Msgr. Joseph Charbonneau, former Archbishop of Montreal.

The last solemn rites for the fourth archbishop of Montreal who died after a heart attack in Victoria, B.C., last weekend were attended by nearly 40 bishops from all parts of Canada and the United States.

The Most Rev. Sebastiano Baggio, apostolic delegate to Canada, officiated at the service. He was assisted by Msgr. Paul Touchette, vicar general of the archdiocese of Montreal and Canon Paul Drouin. Both were close friends of the late archbishop.

Civic and government representatives also attended the service.

371 Injured
In Anti-U.S.
Tokyo Rioting

TOKYO (AP)—Thousands of chanting, shouting Japanese surged through Tokyo streets today and invaded the grounds of the parliament building, demanding an end to military ties with the United States.

Police reported 371 persons injured, 23 severely. Among the injured were 159 policemen.

It was the most violent demonstration since the 1952 May Day riot in which one Japanese was killed and 500 injured.

Twice the leftist-led crowd—estimated at 20,000 to 50,000—stormed into the parliament grounds and exultantly paraded the red banners of the SOHYO labor federation while the lawmakers sat inside.

"This is unprecedented—red flags in the Diet (parliament)," said Sohyo Secretary-General Akira Iwai exultantly.

Communists, socialists, students and teachers participated. The demonstration, at first peaceful and orderly, turned violent when police offered to let a limited number inside the parliament grounds to present a petition attacking the Japan-U.S. mutual defense pact.

The crowd surged forward, broke the police lines at the main gate, and poured into the grounds. Most of those hurt were injured in the ensuing melee. There was also a brief clash between the leftists and a rightist group.

The police cleared the grounds, but later more demonstrators poured over the low walls.

Shout and Lights Go on

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The head of an electronics firm here said today his company has developed a "revolutionary" method of producing electrical energy from noise.

Eugene A. Russell, president and head of research of Electronics Development Inc., said the new method will be valuable in many fields from guided missiles to stereophonic sound phonographs.

Russell and one of his engineers, Andrew Duncan, demonstrated the "power amplifier" at a press conference. The unit weighs about five pounds and Russell said it produced 250 watts of current.

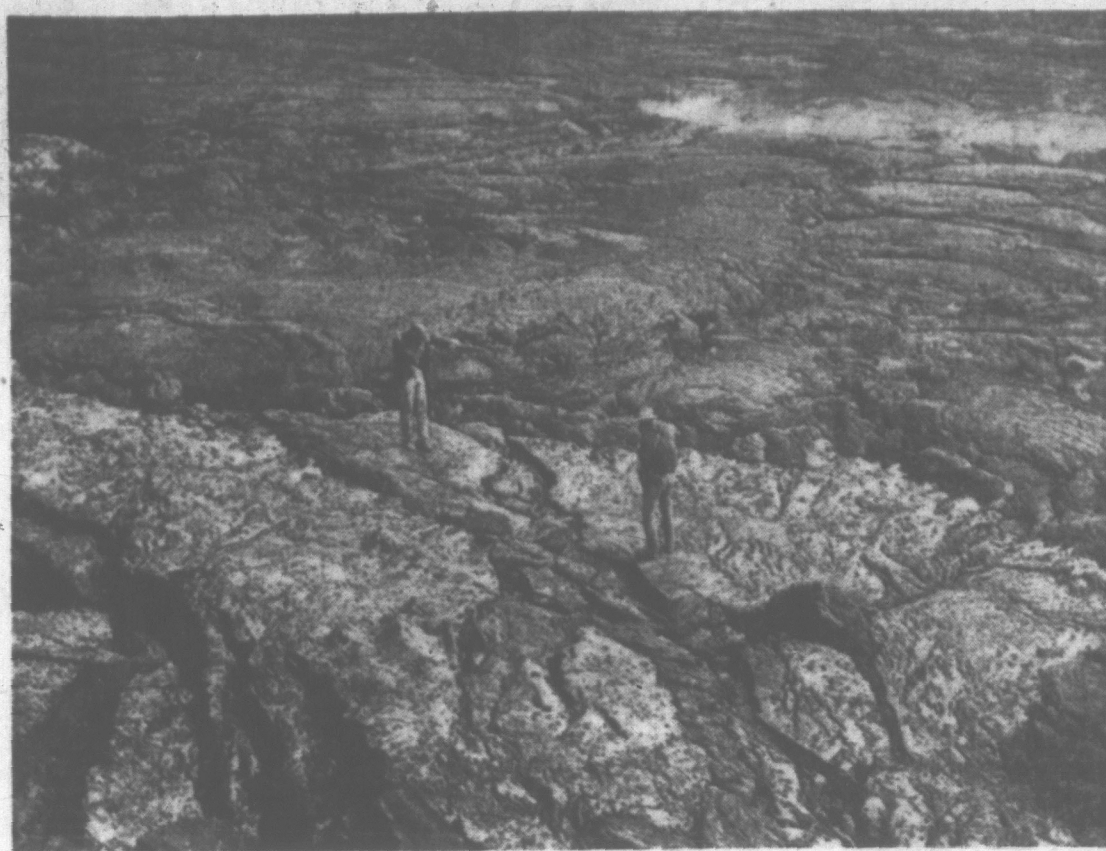

"You could put a noise-maker in a soundproof room and bank these elements around it, and you could produce enough power to light up an entire city," said Russell.

Russell said his device uses "electro-chemical units" instead of common vacuum tubes and produces power by processing electrical impulses produced by sound through a microphone.

"You can buy the materials for manufacturing them," Russell said, "at any corner drug-store."

He refused to divulge the materials used.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Nation-Wide Hunt for Missing Pair

(From CP Dispatches)
NAKUSP — A Canada-wide search is in progress for a Nakusp couple missing from this Arrow Lakes community since July.

RCMP are attempting to locate Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Paul, both about 25, who disappeared from their home at nearby Edgewood early in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul were married in Montana in May and returned here to make their home at Edgewood, where Mr. Paul worked for a lumbering concern.

without advising relatives and friends where they were going.

The title was conferred on him in recognition of his "carrying the name of Vancouver far and wide during his travels on the professional golf circuit in Canada, the U.S. and other foreign lands."

DRUGS IN BALLOONS
NEW WESTMINSTER — Seizure of a large supply of narcotics which were allegedly to be smuggled to inmates of the B.C. penitentiary here was disclosed Thursday by RCMP in police court.

Police witnesses at the preliminary hearing of Benjamin Foster, charged with possession of narcotics for the purpose of trafficking, said 69 capsules in four balloons were dug up at the rear of a prison staff member's home Nov. 3.

Foster was committed to higher court for trial.

LABOR CLASH
VANCOUVER — Pat O'Neal, secretary of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, hinted broadly Thursday that the federation is in sympathy with three local officers of the local Ironworkers' Union who face charges laid by the International Union of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers (AFL-CIO-CLC).

O'Neal said last summer's 50-day strike by Ironworkers' Local 97 "had the support and admiration of the trade union movement of this province."

The three officers will answer Monday to charges that they directed an unauthorized strike and brought discredit on the union.

MURDER HEARING OFF
PORT COQUITLAM — Hearing in a murder charge against Garth Robert Allison, 30, was adjourned Thursday until Dec. 4 pending psychiatric examination of the accused.

Allison was charged after Oakalla prison guard Harold Cordoni, 30, was found shot in his home here Nov. 16.

TEAMSTER ULTIMATUM

NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

NEW WESTMINSTER — Clifford John Dolan, a logger from Chilliwack, was found not guilty of murder but was convicted on a reduced charge of manslaughter Thursday.

Licence Rebate Promised B.C. Farmers

A rebate to bona fide farmers of part of the new commercial vehicle licence fee has been ordered by the B.C. cabinet.

All owners of commercial vehicles will be required to pay licence fees based on gross weight of their vehicles next year—and the scale indicates a healthy increase over recent years.

But in the case of farmers the cabinet order authorizes a rebate of the difference between the new rates and the rates they paid last year.

"All that will be required to obtain the rebate will be for the farmer to show he is operating his vehicle in a bona fide farming operation," said Mr. Wicks.

HARMFUL

He repeated his earlier statement that "licence fees for farmers have been maintained at their present level as otherwise it would seriously affect the agriculture welfare of the province."

Although new licence forms, now being sent out, may indicate payment of an increased fee, the rebate will be made at the time the farmer picks up his new plates.

Two Uninjured As Car Skids, Rolls Into Ditch

LAKE COWICHAN — A car driven by Tommy Wong, Duncan, was damaged to the extent of $500 Thursday when it skidded on Cowichan Lake Road eight miles east of here and rolled over into a ditch.

Damage amounted to $200 when a highways department truck driven by Gerald Cameron, Victoria, skidded on South Shore Road and crashed into a tree. The driver was not injured.

Icy road surfaces contributed to both accidents.

4th Holiday For Mr. K

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew into Moscow by helicopter today from the fourth vacation he has taken this year.

The Soviet leader made the trip from Gargy, in the Caucasus.

One of his other three vacations was taken just before he visited the United States. Khrushchev went hunting with local Communist leaders in Romania. This junket was kept secret until his return to Moscow. In the spring he went to Albania, the Soviet satellite on the Adriatic, for a holiday that later turned into a virtual meeting of top-level Central European Communists.

Industrialist Killed

PM Sets Speedy Aid For Snowed-In Farms

OTTAWA (CP) — A four-point plan of federal aid to Prairie farmers with snowed-in grain crops, including acreage payments shared by the provinces and a speedup of Prairie farm assistance payments, was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

He said in an interview he could give no estimate of the total cost.

That would depend on provincial reaction to the main proposal: A 50-50 split with the provinces on payments of up to $3 an acre—with a maximum of $600 to each farmer—in cases where a farmer has been prevented by snow from harvesting 30 per cent or more of his grain.
